Scores Coup

Fresno Bourbons Plan Court Fight

FRESNO, Cal., July 11.—(UP)—Fresno county Democratic leaders today prepared to take legal action against County Clerk Ernest Dusenberry after workers at the state relief administration camp at Trimmer Springs were refused permission to register as election voters.

Dusenberry said registration of the workers was rejected on advice of Attorney General U. S. Webb. The workers would not be allowed to register from the camp address, the county clerk said.

Dr. George H. Sciaroni, chairman of the Fresno county Democratic Central committee, announced a complaint was being prepared against Dusenberry to halt what he said were "efforts to obstruct the registration of Democratic voters."

FLOOD AGAIN THREATENS

TOKYO, July 11.—(UP)—The populace of the city of Nishinomiya, between Kobe and Osaka, moved to higher ground today as the Boko river again reached flood tide threatening the city.

The river was swelled by heavy rains which continued throughout the day.

HOLLYWOOD POLICE BREAK UP GIGANTIC CONFIDENCE GAME

HOLLYWOOD, July 11.—(UP)—Police claimed today to have broken one of the most brazen and successful confidence games in Hollywood history with the arrest of two men charged with peddling promissory notes on which were forged the name of Louis B. Mayer, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The victims included a bank president and a prominent attorney.

The confidence men made use of the names of such stars as Jeanette MacDonald, Nelson Eddy and Charles Laughton.

Two Nabbed
In custody were George Donald Smart, 35, a film sound recorder, and Layne Britton, 30, a makeup artist, both employed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, but probably entirely unknown to Mayer whose name, authorities said, had been forged to notes totaling $100,000.

Smart, authorities said, was the "brains"; Britton, a dupe.

Had Smart played his cards a little more wisely, District Attorney Burton Fitts said, his methods of making money might have gone for a long time without being discovered. But Smart pushed his luck too far, Fitts said. He was arrested on charges preferred by Mayer

U. S. Lives In China Threatened

NIPPON NAVY SHELLS CITY

SHANGHAI, July 11.—(UP)—Americans were endangered today when Japanese war ships shelled the city of Kiukiang, 135 miles south of Hankow on the Yangtse river.

American naval authorities reported that 10 Americans failed to board the U. S. gunboat Monocacy when it moved up the river to a point three miles beyond Kiukiang.

In Bombers Path
The Americans included Helen Forris, South Pasadena, Calif.; the Rev. Jacob Frick, Nekoma, Kan.; and Pearl Jones of Glendale, Calif.

The Monocacy lay in the path of Japanese bombing planes as the Japanese infantry drove on Kiukiang.

Forced Back
Japanese naval authorities said that the gunboat had attempted to move far above Kiukiang and get clear of the danger zone, but was forced to turn back because of Chinese mines in the Yangtse river.

Then, according to the Japanese, the Monocacy anchored three miles above Kiukiang, the next objective in Japan's march on the capital.

It was believed that a British gunboat, the Cockchafer, was maneuvering in the same vicinity. The Japanese expressed gratification that foreign naval authorities had "acquiesced" to their demands to get out of the danger zone, but there was no indication that America, British and other foreign naval officers had done so.

Defied Edict
It was recalled that just a month ago Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, flatly refused a Japanese request to get American warships off the Yangtse.

There were indications that American and other neutral naval authorities would reject the Japanese request that they evacuate and paint their warships red so that they could be easily distinguished by Japanese aviators.

American navy men said, the United States policy was not changed. It was, in effect: "We will avoid danger whenever possible. But we will protect Americans at any cost."

Deny Claims
American officers denied the Japanese assertions that the Monocacy was forced to turn back down the Yangtse above Kiukiang because of Chinese mines. It was quickly about the court, he looks quickly about the courtroom, they state.

Before Superior Judge James L. Allen for a postponed arraignment today, Marr asked further delay, saying he has not yet obtained counsel. He appealed to the court to "let me get letters and telegrams."

Bridges Launches New Labor Move

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—(UP)—Harry Bridges, west coast CIO director, today issued a call to all CIO unions and industrial councils in California for a meeting in Los Angeles Aug. 20-21 to establish a state industrial union council.

Although no mention was made by Bridges of the California Federation of Labor, A. L. of L., the move for formation of a statewide CIO council was seen as widening the gap between A. F. of L. and CIO leaders in the state.

The growth of the Committee for Industrial Organization in California, its added importance and influence together with the many problems that confront it," Bridges said, "demand the formation of a state council of the CIO."

Embezzler To Be Arraigned

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—(UP)—David L. Strom, 34, former San Jose bank teller charged with embezzlement of $58,405 in funds of the American Trust company, will be arraigned in federal court today.

Strom, arrested in Seattle last week after a year of search by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was returned to San Francisco Saturday night to face charges of violation of the national bank act. Bail for his release was set at $25,000.

He was indicted in August last year on embezzlement charges and waived extradition from the State of Washington after his capture there Tuesday. The $7500 in cash found on Strom's person at the time of his arrest, as well as a $1600 automobile which he recently purchased, will be turned over to the company which bonded him, agents said.

As Waves Pounded Ill-Fated $45,000 Craft.

Pictured above is the $8-foot $45,000 purse seiner Kingfisher as she rolled in the pounding surf at 15th street, midway between Balboa and Newport harbors. The ship went aground at 12:45 a. m., yesterday. In the photograph, taken late yesterday, may be seen the waves pouring over the decks after the superstructure had been carried away by the heavy seas. The crew of eleven men were all rescued from the ship by means of a life-line cast by the Newport Beach police department. Thousands of Orange county residents swarmed over the scene and a score of bonfires brightened the sky during the night. Complete story of the rescue appears today on the first page of the second section of The Register.

GUARD MARR AS TRY AT ESCAPE FEARED

Warren Marr, recaptured prisoner facing prosecution on felony charges here, today continued to urge delay in prosecution of his case. And the sheriff's office, keeping alert watch over the slippery prisoner who once got away, resorted to rumors of a plot to "snatch" Marr from his jailors with the warning that if such a move is tried, "somebody will get hurt."

Marr's own behavior has lent some strength to suspicion that a coup might be attempted by his friends, to wrest him from hands of the law before he can go to trial.

Searches Street
While being escorted from the county jail to the superior court room at various times, officers say, Marr's glance searches the street in either direction, and closely inspects nearby parked cars, as though he was expecting someone. Upon entering court, he looks quickly about the courtroom, they state.

Before Superior Judge James L. Allen for a postponed arraignment today, Marr asked further delay, saying he has not yet obtained counsel. He appealed to the court to "let me get letters and telegrams."

Woman Screams Defiance At Court's Ruling

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—(UP)—Anna Laura Barnett, widow of Jackson Barnett, aged Creek Indian oil millionaire, threatened today in federal court to "use a gun and a knife" on any agents who attempt to carry out an order to evict her from the spacious home she has occupied since her husband's death.

Raising her voice to a shrill scream, Mrs. Barnett angrily defied Judge William P. James when he informed her she must vacate the residence within 30 days.

"You might as well make it tomorrow," she shouted, "because I'm not going to vacate in 30 days or at any other time. I'll use a gun and a knife."

The supreme court has ruled that you were not legally married to Jackson Barnett, that he was incompetent, the judge said mildly. "Incompetent, poppycock," she snorted. "He made his living, and there are 30,000,000 Americans that can't make theirs."

Marriage "Invalid"
Mrs. Barnett, whose 13-year-old marriage to the aged Indian was declared invalid only a month before he died, had filed an answer to the government's show cause order, in which she contended that she had purchased the home with her own money earned in real estate transactions. She also insisted that under California law any person who occupies property for five years and pays taxes is entitled to title.

"I am the widow of Jackson Barnett and as his survivor, I am entitled to his estate," she snorted. "This court hasn't any jurisdiction now or it never did have to deprive me of my rights."

After the brief hearing was over, Mrs. Barnett turned on a photographer in a rage, grabbed his camera and flung it down on the floor of the corridor.

"You are all a bunch of gangsters and you are a big gangster yourself," she cried.

American Envoy Dies at Panama

NOGALES, Ariz., July 11.—(UP)—John O'Keefe, 42, American vice-consul at Buenaventura, Colombia, died yesterday in the Panama Canal Zone hospital, where he had been taken for treatment for typhoid fever, relatives here learned today.

O'Keefe, formerly vice-consul at Nogales, Sonora, Mex., across the border from here, had been stationed at Buenaventura since last April. The state department in Washington announced Friday he had been taken by navy seaplane to the Canal Zone.

Prison Fugitives Are Captured

FLORENCE, Ariz., July 11.—(UP)—Two of the Arizona state prison's "wandering" convicts were returned to the prison today.

CONFUSION, STORM BLAMED FOR CRASH

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(UP)—An air commerce bureau board of inquiry reported today that the crash of a Transcontinental and Western Air transport plane near Wawona, Calif., March 1 probably was caused by a combination of the pilot's confusion as to his position and a sharp change in wind direction.

Five passengers and three members of the crew were killed in the accident.

The change in wind direction and a marked increase in velocity were unknown to the pilot, John D. Graves, the board found. This fact combined with his uncertainty as to his position with reference to the Fresno radio beam, combined to cause his flight over dangerous mountain terrain, the board said.

Ice Formed
The plane crashed into Buena Vista crest as the pilot was flying at or near cruising altitude, the board found. The plane was en route to Burbank, Calif. The board found the flight proceeded in a normal manner for one hour and 55 minutes, but ice was encountered at a point approximately 42 miles south southeast of Bakersfield, and the pilot turned back toward Fresno.

After turning back, the pilot attempted to follow a predetermined flight path based on calculations made prior to the departure from San Francisco.

Comics Ready For Annual Ball Game

HOLLYWOOD, July 11.—(UP)—The movie comedians were assembling a collection of rubber balls, explosive balls, and glue-filled gloves today for their annual charity baseball game with the leading men.

The game will be played, if played is the word, at Wrigley Field on July 30, with proceeds going to a Hollywood hospital fund. The funnymen, led by Joe E. Brown of the wide mouth, have spent months thinking up gags for victimizing the romances.

On Brown's team will be Benny Rubin, Parkyarkarkus, Charlie Ruggles, Billy Gilbert, the Ritz brothers (insisting upon batting as one man), Irving S. Cobb, Andy Devine, Jack Benny, Milton Berle, James Gleason and Jimmy Durante.

John Boles, Dick Powell, Jack La Rue, Fred Astaire, George Raft and Edward G. Robinson are among the leading men.

Two Killed In Highway Crash

FAIRFIELD, Calif., July 11.—(UP)—Two men were killed and a third injured today when a car driven by Louis Emil Lauten, 31, Fairfield, was in collision with a grain truck on the old highway between Napa and Cordella.

Names of the two victims, whose bodies were taken to Vallejo, were not learned immediately. Lauten was reported to have been injured seriously.

Officers said preliminary investigation of the crash indicated the car had been sideswiped by the truck and knocked off the road.

200 Die As Arabs Riot

JERUSALEM, July 11.—(UP)—The death toll in the Holy Land, warfare between Arabs and Jews mounted today in a wave of retaliatory shootings by Arab bands for Jewish terrorism in which more than 200 Arabs and Jews have been killed and wounded in the past week.

A Jewish policeman was killed and two British constables were wounded when an Arab band ambushed a British mobile police patrol in the village of Daburieh near Nazareth.

Settlement Raided
The Jewish settlement of Givat-tada in north Palestine was attacked and two Jewish policemen and a woman were killed. A Jewish youth was shot and killed at Tiberias and another Jew was slain.

COURT APPOINTMENT DEFERRED BY F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(UP)—President Roosevelt was expected today to defer until Congress convenes in January his third opportunity to appoint a justice to the Supreme Court for the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Benjamin Nathan Cardozo.

Because there is no pressing need to replace Cardozo immediately, it was believed that the President would not make a recess appointment although that method has been approved by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings. While the president can make an appointment during a congressional recess, the nominee still would be subject to the Senate's approval when it convenes.

Much Speculation
While official Washington mourned the death of one of the nation's most distinguished jurists, speculation on his successor began immediately. The list of potential nominees remains about the same as when Mr. Roosevelt appointed Hugo L. Black and Stanley F. Reed to succeed retired Justices Willis Van Devanter and George Sutherland.

However, new demands for representation on the court are expected to come from the west during the President's current trip to the Pacific coast. Two outstanding western liberals are on the list of potential nominees. They are Sam Gilbert Bratton of Texas, judge of the tenth circuit court of appeals, and William Denman of San Francisco, judge on the ninth circuit court of appeals.

Peach Growers Look To U. S. Aid

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 11.—(UP)—California peach growers look to the federal government's new spending program to bolster consumer purchasing power for their products, a statewide meeting of growers was informed today.

The growers met in the state assembly chamber to consider a proposed marketing order for canning cling peaches, to be administered by the state department of agriculture.

Clifton S. Hite of Rio Oso, representing the cling peach committee of the California Farm Bureau Federation, listed the projected government disbursements as a vital factor in the prospects for a favorable return from the 1938 marketing program. He recommended a pack of 7,500,000 cases, approximately 170,000 tons, at $30 a case.

Four Killed When Plane Crashes

ARMONK, N. Y., July 11.—(UP)—The crash of a sightseeing airplane near the Westchester airport today cost the lives of three men and a woman last night, was blamed today on the pilot's determination to try a second time for a perfect landing after his first attempt had been faulty.

The dead were the pilot, David M. Houghton; Russell Putnam, 32, socially prominent son of Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Putnam, New York; Clifton Wilson, tree surgeon of Danbury, Conn.; and a woman still unidentified.

SPORTSMAN-PILOT SETS NEW RECORD; MAKES HOP FROM N.Y. IN 16 HOURS

BULLETIN
PARIS, July 11.—(UP)—Ambassador William C. Bullitt told the United Press tonight that Howard Hughes, just landed from New York on an attempted around the world flight record, would not leave Paris for Moscow before morning. Bullitt said Hughes had fixed no definite time of departure.

LE BOURGET AIRPORT, France, July 11.—(UP)—Howard Hughes, American sportsman-aviator, landed his big two-engined "scientific" plane on Le Bourget field today, the second time in history that the flight across the Atlantic to this airport has been made non-stop.

Hughes thus made the trip in the phenomenal time of 16 hours and 38 minutes.

He more than cut in half the time of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who made the first and only solo flight from New York to Paris in 1927.

Lindbergh did it in 33½ hours, flying a single engined Ryan monoplane.

PLANS TO CONTINUE

The Hughes plane, which probably will continue eastward on an around the world flight back to New York, left New York at 7:30 p. m. EDT Sunday and arrived here at 11:51 a. m. EDT, or 4:51 p. m. Paris time.

Hughes thus made the trip in 16 hours and 38 minutes. Just as Ambassador Myron T. Herrick greeted Lindbergh, Ambassador William C. Bullitt was on hand to extend warm congratulations to Hughes and his four companion fliers.

Wind Helpful
Hughes was five hours ahead of the schedule he had set. He came through bad weather over the Atlantic and the eastern coast of Europe, flying by radio beam through rain and low hanging clouds.

However, he had favorable winds after leaving mid-ocean and sped directly from the Irish coast to France via Cherbourg. He was not sighted from the ground after crossing the coast until the big plane appeared over this field just outside Paris.

The plane landed at the north end of the field, avoiding a dozen commercial planes, and taxied to the apron in front of the administration building.

Ambassador Bullitt ran across the field and shook hands with Hughes, shouting joyfully.

Thief Threatens Director's Wife

HOLLYWOOD, July 11.—(UP)—Mrs. Frank Capra, wife of the prominent screen director, was threatened with death by a burglar who invaded her home early today.

She told police she was aroused by a stir upstairs and upon climbing the stairs was met by a young man who pointed a gun at her.

"If you scream, I will kill you," he whispered.

He brushed past her and fled downstairs just as Capra awoke and pursued him outside.

The intruder escaped empty-handed.

Ickes Approves New Allocations

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(UP)—Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes today announced allocations of $7,831,932 for 55 PWA projects with a total estimated cost of $17,382,075.

The allocations included $55,000 in loans. The rest was grants.

Today's list brought the total of non-federal projects approved under the PWA program to 2061, with a total estimated cost of $541,580,936, with total allotments of $269,594,872.

Hughes was dressed in a gray suit, a white shirt and an unshapely brown hat. He silently read the sheet of telegrams which Bullitt handed to him.

Small Crowd
The crowd was vastly smaller and

RUMOR DISSENSION IN RANKS OF COLORADO RIVER EXPLORERS

LEE'S FERRY, Ariz., July 11.—(UP)—A rumor spread here today that dissension in the ranks of the Nevills Colorado river expedition, now at the halfway point in the dangerous voyage, may cause two more members to quit.

Announcement of any further break in the scientist's party was held up until the return of Expedition Leader Norman D. Nevills, who went to Mexican Hat, Utah, for supplies.

Two members already have quit the party. Eugene Atkinson, University of Michigan biologist, quit to do research work in Texas, and Don Harris, U. S. geological survey engineer, was forced to return to work because of a transference.

Originally six persons, including Miss Elzada Clover, 40, University of Michigan biologist; Miss Lois Jotter, 25-year-old assistant to Miss Clover; and W. C. Gibson, San Francisco photographer, joined in a cooperative effort to battle the 650-odd miles of rapids and canyons from Green River, Utah, to Boulder Dam in Nevada. The rumor of a split-up did not say which of the four remain-

State Approves Highway Project

FRESNO, Cal., July 11.—(UP)—A $1,455,000 Works Progress Administration project for the improvement of state feeder highways in Fresno, Madera, Kings, Tulare and Kern counties was sent to Sacramento today for the approval of state officials.

The project will be submitted to Earl Lee Kelly, state public works director and Arlin E. Stockburger, finance director. If approved it will be forwarded to W.P.A. headquarters in Washington, D. C.

The state highway commission has approved the proposed road improvement program. Actual construction is expected to begin early in October.

In Relief officials hope the project will provide employment for many of the estimated 14,000 expected to be eligible for W.P.A. work this winter.

Army Flier Dies In Plane Crash

PANAMA CITY, July 11.—(UP)—Lieut. Paul R. Gowen of Caldwell, Ida., was killed today and two others seriously injured when a United States army bombing plane crashed and burned in the jungle at Paitilla Point near Panama City.

Gowen was hurled from the plane and crushed by one of the motors which was torn loose and fell on top of him. Lieut. Kenneth R. Crosher, co-pilot, was injured seriously and Private Gareth H. Bundy, radioman, was burned.

The plane was making a navigation test flight when one of the motors failed. The pilots circled toward Panama Bay in an attempt to make a water landing but the other motor failed. As they glided toward the water the ship struck a tree top and burst into flames.

Crosher and Bundy managed to crawl from the flaming wreckage.

Fruit Company's Suit Dismissed

Dismissal was filed today in the $15,065 damage suit brought by the Quality Fruit company, of Fullerton, against the Continental Canning company, for allegedly defective cans sold to the Fullerton concern for canning lemon juice.

The suit was filed last February 5. Recently the defendant company filed petition to transfer the case to federal district court on the ground that the defendant company is an Illinois corporation.

The dismissal filed today was "with prejudice" which is a bar to refiling it.

Hollywood Police Jail Forgers

Smart met President Aubrey Austin of the Santa Monica state bank and negotiated a $10,000 loan on a note which Pitts said bore the forged signature of Mayer. Smart told the banker that Mayer had plenty of money, but wanted to pay Miss MacDonald a secret bonus. It was so secret, Mayer would deny all knowledge of the deal, if approached, Smart said.

Paid Back Loan

Austin handed over the $10,000. Pitts continued. A few months later he said, Smart paid back the loan—having floated another one with Charles D. Case, one of his neighbors, for $15,000. This sum, Smart said, would enable Mayer to give Eddy a secret bonus.

Smart's next transaction, he told Pitts, was his best.

He borrowed $25,000 on another forged note, so that Actor Lough-ton could have a bonus. He borrowed the money from Gail Burk, attorney. Smart said E. B. Morgan and R. W. Grize, investment brokers, examined the deal and approved it.

Smart confessed further. Pitts said, that when Burk wanted Mayer to sign a new note for the $25,000 he had the lawyer mail the blank document to Mayer's home. Smart said he hurried to Mayer's house, talked a negro chauffeur into handing him the letter, signed Mayer's name to the note and mailed it back to Burk.

Not Satisfied

Burk still wasn't satisfied. He wanted to talk to Mayer. Smart said he fixed a telephone line, where-by Burk talked not to Mayer, but to Britton, who impersonated Mayer. That satisfied Burk and the money was forthcoming.

Last Saturday Smart tried to borrow $37,500 from Attorney Max Fink with which to pay back the others. Fink refused. By then Mayer had heard of the proceedings and notified authorities.

Townsendites In Anti-M'Adoo Move

Six thousand registered Townsend voters in the 19th Congressional district today were ordered to re-register in the Democratic party in a move to defeat Senator William Gibbs McAdoo for re-election as state senator and elect Sheridan Downey, Democratic candidate for the senatorship, who has pledged Townsend support. The switch was ordered by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the Townsend movement and leader of the group. J. H. Walsh, district organizer for the pensioners in this area, made the announcement today and warned Townsendites that deadline for transferring registration is July 21.

Headline Maker Hits the Headlines

Having published, as president of the New York News, many a story of others' marital affairs, Joseph Medill Patterson made grist for his own mill when he married Miss Mary King, women's page editor of the paper. He is pictured above with his bride as they sailed for a honeymoon tour of Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

King George Suffers Illness

LONDON, July 11.—(UP)—King George was on a milk diet today, fighting an attack of gastric influenza which sent him to bed at the royal lodge at Windsor and for a time caused fears that his state visit to France might have to be postponed a second time.

King George is scheduled to go to Paris July 19 for his state visit, postponed from June 28 because of the death of his mother-in-law, the Countess of Strathmore and Kinghorne, June 23.

The king's illness was his first since his accession to the throne in December, 1936. A slight chill caused him to cancel several engagements in June, 1936, when he was Duke of York. He had several attacks of gastric and abdominal trouble while he was serving as a navy officer in the World War. He underwent an operation for a duodenal ulcer in 1917.

TAX REPORT FILED

Inheritance tax reports filed today in connection with two northern Orange county estates, shows that Mrs. Mary Annin of Fullerton, who inherited the $127,722.87 estate of her husband, former Mayor Burt Annin, paid a tax of $1258.24 to the state; Mrs. Lucy Lindauer of La Habra, paid a tax of $2719.32 on the $103,083 she received from the estate of her husband, the late Luther Lindauer, who died August 11, 1936.

Hughes Completes Hop To Paris

less hysterical than that which greeted Lindbergh on his historic flight. Paul Codos was the only famous French flier to greet Hughes.

"It was a magnificent exploit," Codos said. "Everyone estimated your arrival at 10 p. m. But I know the ocean winds and I came early."

Hughes did not take time to talk to reporters, or even to receive the welcoming officials, until he had supervised the draining of the old oil.

"We flew blind for eight hours while waiting for daylight, and then flew by instruments," he said. "We saw little land until we reached Paris. We had 300 gallons of fuel left."

While Hughes and his crew talked to newspapermen in the administration building, chefs prepared hot meals for them and the food and supplies were loaded into the plane.

Harry P. M. Connor, navigator and co-pilot, said their flight here in less than half the time that Lindbergh took was a striking example of the progress of aviation in the intervening 11 years. Lindbergh flew a single motored plane, went alone, and had no radio.

In preparing for the takeoff to Moscow, Hughes studied weather reports showing favorable tail winds as far as Moscow.

"We will leave as soon as it is clear," Hughes said. "We should reach Moscow in seven or eight hours with that sort of wind."

The French meteorological chief advised Hughes to fly at above 18,000 feet, saying:

"You will have excellent winds at that height, while lower you will have a 10,000 foot ceiling and many difficult hills."

One of those who greeted the fliers was the French ace Michel De Troyat, who greeted Lindbergh and lent him the leather coat in which he escaped through the clamoring crowds. De Troyat said to the United Press:

"It is the greatest ocean flight in history. Two weeks ago I talked with Hughes in Los Angeles. It shows that it is feasible to fly between Paris and New York commercially within 24 hours."

Experiences In China Portrayed

Before a well-attended meeting of Orange county ministers and friends, Dr. Ralph Felton, professor at Drew university, Madison, N. J., this morning told of his experiences while in Japan for three months and in Nanking, China, during recent warfare.

Dr. Felton, who lived in Nanking for two years where he taught at the University of Nanking, was in the city prior to and during the occupation of the city by Japanese troops. He is now on a two-year leave of absence from the Chinese university. He arrived from China last week and is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. L. L. Williams, Orange.

Noted Doctor Believed Better

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 11.—(UP)—Comdr. Joel T. Boone, U. S. navy medical corps, was reported convalescing so rapidly at the naval hospital here today that he probably will be permitted to sit up Wednesday.

Comdr. Boone underwent a major abdominal operation last Tuesday. Before he went to the hospital Boone, who served as White House physician to Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, was attached to the U. S. marine base here as medical official in charge.

Guard Marr; Fear Escape Try

out" of the jail. However, it was learned later that Marr is seeking the services of an attorney in Santa Ana, Z. B. West, and that a conference with West was arranged today by telephone. West had been retained by Marr before Marr's escape in 1935.

Purpose Mystery

The purpose of the letters and telegrams that Marr said he wished to send, remained unexplained, since they apparently had nothing to do with obtaining counsel. Judge Allen answered Marr's request by saying that he wasn't "running the jail" but assumed that the jail authorities would cooperate with Marr in getting counsel.

Sheriff Logan Jackson made known later that Marr had not been refused the right to read letters or telegrams from the jail. At the same time, Jackson let it be known that any such letters or telegrams would be strictly censored.

"He will be accorded all rights of citizenship; but we have had a lot of trouble and expense on his account and we intend to inspect any mail that he receives or sends," said the sheriff.

Issues Warning

"As far as the reports of an attempt to take Marr away from us is concerned, if that is tried somebody will get hurt," Jackson added.

Marr faces grand jury indictment on four counts of grand theft and four of violating the corporate securities act. He escaped in 1935 while awaiting prosecution of these charges, became involved with Indiana authorities later, and served a term in prison there, recently being paroled to Orange county authorities. The felony escape charge now has been added to the others.

200 Slain As Arabs, Jews Riot

at Alonim, Jewish settlement near Haifa.

The Arab police commandant at Salim Bitar was killed in a barber shop at Tukarem. Hundreds of Zion Revisionists Jews were arrested.

Bombs Thrown

There was no estimate of the number arrested. British authorities were clamping down hard on extremist Jewish leaders.

At Haifa bombs were thrown into two buses crowded with Jews, killing one and wounding 31.

Several hours earlier 10 Jews were wounded by another bomb. A bomb was exploded near the King David hotel here, wounding two Jews. An unexploded bomb was discovered in front of an Arab motion picture theater.

Maintain Patrol

Troops and steel helmeted British police cleared the streets and maintained a constant patrol in Haifa and Jerusalem. In Haifa, they were reinforced by marines from the battle cruiser Repulse, whose searchlights lighted the port.

Further major incidents were feared since of those killed and wounded in a week of rioting and sniping, more than 15 per cent were Arabs who demanded vengeance.

WINBIGLERS IN BAY CITY

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Winbiger, local morticians, today are in San Francisco where Winbiger is attending a meeting of the executive board of the California Funeral Directors' association. The couple will remain in the Bay city for the rest of the week where they will visit friends.

ODD BUT TRUE — BY WALKER —

A MILE IN TOWN IS LONGER

THAN A MILE IN THE COUNTRY

In STOP and GO, a mile S-T-R-E-T-C-H-E-S

In low and second, your engine makes up to 3 times as many revolutions as in high—uses 3 times as much gasoline

STOP-AND-GO driving fools your speedometer—while your car is going a mile, your engine may go the equivalent of two.

The number of extra revolutions your engine makes depends on how many times you stop and start—how much of your driving is in low and second gears.

You can't avoid stop-and-go driving, but you can do something about its high cost.

Shell engineers found that getting away from a traffic stop can waste enough "undigested" gasoline to carry you 1/3 of a mile.

To cut this costly waste, they rearranged the chemical structure of gasoline. They make every drop of Super-Shell "motor digestible"—every drop usable in stop-and-go driving.

MYSTERY SOLVED AS DOCTOR FOUND DEAD

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., July 11.—(UP)—Dr. Joseph K. Swindt, who disappeared from Pomona last week and for whom a statewide search was in progress, was found dead of poison today in a small hotel in the little coast hamlet of Olema, between Bolinas and Pt. Reyes, in Marin county.

Authorities said he committed suicide. They reported his body was surrounded by several notes outlining the effect of the poison as it slowly killed him.

Last Friday Swindt's wife, Mrs. Jane Swindt, asked authorities of San Bernardino county to search for him. His automobile had been found abandoned in a Los Angeles parking lot early Monday.

4 REE HELD AS HOSPITAL SETS DRUNK DRIVERS FINANCE MARK

Clark W. Wingert of Route 3, Anaheim, assisted Deputy Sheriff William Trapp in making two of four week-end arrests on drunk driving charges.

A few moments after Wingert brought Yeabell, 22, 1534 West Second, Santa Ana, to county jail from Rio Vista street, near Anaheim, at request of Trapp, the two were leaving the sheriff's office when they nabbed Juan Gonzales, 34, Garden Grove, a few steps from the jail and booked him on a drunk driving charge.

Nearly Overtures
Wingert and Trapp reported Parra was driving in a zig-zag fashion on Rio Vista and nearly overturned his car three times before they could stop him. He also narrowly missed colliding with a parked car, they said. En route to the jail, Wingert said Parra tried to escape and was slightly injured when he started to fight. He had been on probation, it was reported.

Ivan Sharp, 48, Long Beach, was arrested early yesterday by Orange police on a drunk driving charge. Santa Ana Officers W. E. B. Sherwood and Cornish Roehm arrested Tony Bustillos, 43, Garden Grove, on drunk driving charges when they stopped him at Cubbon and Main streets shortly after midnight yesterday.

Week-end Trail Blazers

When singers of spirituals chant about the "Glory Road" they may visualize something as beautiful as the photo above, showing a brilliant spectacle of illumination along New York's George Washington Bridge and its approach. But it was scarcely a glory road for the thousands of Gothamites in the streaming caravan of cars whose headlights produced the effect. For they were reluctantly blazing the home-ward trail across the Hudson River to return to work after a week-end at summer resorts.

JOE BERRY PITCHES NO-HITTER FOR L. A.

(By United Press)

A no-hit, no-run game featured the Pacific Coast league play today as Joe Berry, Los Angeles pitcher, blanked Oakland in the seven-inning windup of a double-header.

Only two Oakland men reached base, and both died there. Berry walked Hugh Luby and "Red" Van Fleet in separate innings.

Berry's performance enabled Los Angeles to take the second game, 4-0, after winning the first, 5-4. Meanwhile, Hollywood also took both ends from Portland; Seattle split with San Diego and Sacramento divided the pair with San Francisco.

Sacramento finished the week three full games ahead of second place Los Angeles.

LUMBER MEN DEFY MASS C. I. O. PICKET LINE

1,000 WORKERS FILE IN MILL

WESTWOOD, Calif., July 11.—(UP)—Two fights broke out today as Red River Lumber Company employees, many of them rehired after a four month layoff, went through a mass picket line or from 600 to 1000 CIO saw mill workers.

Police said both fights were between unionists, who have been on strike in protest against a 17 1/2 per cent wage cut, and employees who have refused to go on strike. Combatants swung their fists but were separated quickly.

Picket Line Broken
The outbreaks occurred as an estimated 1000 men, flanked by law officers, filed two abreast into the plant after the picket line had been broken at the sawmill gate.

Those going to work included some who have continued working since the strike was called Thursday. Others were men called back to work after layoffs.

Observers said no men from outside the immediate Feather river country had been called in as workers although Saturday the company issued a call for additional employees.

Double In Ranks
Under normal operations the plant employs 2000 men but prior to the strike employed only 1200. Of these less than 300 members of the CIO sawmill and lumber workers' union voted to strike. Since the strike, however, unionists reported their ranks had been more than doubled.

Union officials said the plant management had announced those who refused to work could consider themselves discharged, but this was denied. Although the union claimed 800 of the 1200 plant workers were members, the company contended all departments were functioning at approximately 60 per cent of capacity.

Ramifications of the strike widened when a truck driven by an A. F. of L. teamster refused to cross the picket lines to make deliveries to the plant. Union officials cautioned wives and children of the striking workers to stay out of picket lines fearing possible disorders.

Name McCullough On Library Board

LAGUNA BEACH, July 11.—Toastmasters' club No. 1, has designated Perry E. McCullough, the president, as representative of the club on the Laguna Beach Library board.

Plans are afoot, and architect's sketches made, for a proposed new library building on the present municipally owned site. A PWA grant of funds will be sought for use in constructing the building. Present quarters are outmoded and outgrown, in view of the accretion of population during the years since the picturesque little building was erected on First street.

Probe Death of Chicago Heiress

Following the death of Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, left, heiress to the $20,000,000 Horlick mail fortune, at the Toronto home of W. Perkins Bull, right, wealthy lawyer, authorities ordered an investigation into the case. Bull, at whose estate the Chicago divorcee had been living for more than a year, was named in a $250,000 suit filed by Mrs. Sidley's former husband just before he died two years ago. The suit was settled out of court.

1,277 CARS OF VALENCIAS ARE SHIPPED THROUGH COUNTY UNIT

Shipments of the valencia variety for June through the associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit Exchange amounted to 1,277 carloads, 79 cars of which were sold through market channels within the State of California and 1,198 cars were moved to export and domestic markets. This makes a total of 2,340 cars of valencias moved to July 1.

At the same date last year shipments of packed and loose valencias amounted to 1776 carloads.

Lemon Shipments
Lemon shipments from the District for the month of June amounted to 153 cars, which brings the total shipments to date of this variety to 464 carloads. The total California Fruit Growers Exchange storage as of June 15th shows a decrease of 9 per cent as compared with the storage of June 11.

This is heavier than any storage on the nearest comparable date for any previous year. It is 1429 cars or approximately 44 per cent above the average of the past five years. Estimated picks for July, while somewhat below those of June, are expected to be approximately 300 cars above the average of the past five years.

Market Is Steady
Market conditions on California lemons continued about steady throughout the month with very little change in the general price level. Weather conditions in the markets were adverse to a free movement of lemons. For the most part temperatures during the month of June this year have been the lowest in many years. Market values on oranges during the past few weeks have shown a slow gradual improvement.

Florida shipments now are practically completed, only around 100 cars remaining at the beginning of this week. With the control of the weekly shipments or oranges in the hands of California shippers it is reasonable to expect that the regulation of shipments under pro-rates will be more effective from now on than has been the case to date.

HARVARD PEERS INTO ION FIELD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—After a four-year shutdown, Harvard University's Ionosphere Observatory has resumed its radio investigations of the little-understood deep blankets of atomic particles which surround the earth's atmosphere a hundred or so miles from the ground, and which enable long-distance wireless communication.

The Harvard station now is making continuous automatic observations, 24 hours a day, of the heights of the ion layers vertically over Cambridge.

Within a few weeks this study will be supplemented by a program for continuous short wave radio transmission and reception between the Harvard laboratories and a station at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y.

The radio studies over this long base line will be carried out with automatic equipment set up within the laboratories, and with a specially equipped radio truck which will be used to make field observations between the two fixed stations.

Scientists believe that continuous records of changes in the ionosphere will not only help to improve radio communication, but may also yield vital information about the sun, the nature of the upper atmosphere and about earth's weather.

Shifts occur constantly in the ion layers, and sometimes very rapidly, throughout the day and night, and are caused chiefly by changes in the intensity of the sun's radiation.

'Lady Godiva'

Substituting bathing trunks, brassiere and a long flaxen wig for the sport outfit she wears above, Mirabelle Muller rode as "Lady Godiva" in a street parade at Teddington, near London. Although the 13-year-old girl was heavily clad compared with her historic prototype, her costume so enraged one spectator that, shouting objections, he clawingly tried to unseat her, and succeeded in scratching her face before her father knocked him down. Her assailant was arrested and "Lady Godiva" completed her ride.

OUT WEST, TOO, ONE SMOKER TELLS ANOTHER "CAMELS AGREE WITH ME"

ROUND-UP TIME at the famous Pitchfork Outfit, 200,000-acre Wyoming ranch of Charles J. Belden. The picture above shows "Chuck" Curtis, one of Pitchfork's best at "heeling" calves. Exciting work, but it's plenty tough too. So "Chuck's" cigarette choice is Camel! "When I get dog-tired," he says, "a Camel gives a quick 'lift' to my energy!" And that goes for many another cow-puncher. For out west, too, Camel is the favorite cigarette.

COME NIGHTFALL, the Pitchfork bunch sets out at Cook George Weller's chuck-wagon. Ken Stengel wrangles his guitar, while the boys vocalize that good old favorite, "Home on the Range." Camels aplenty here, for, as Ted Riegel (right of coffee pot) puts it, "After you've tucked away a hearty meal, there's nothing like a Camel 'for digestion's sake'—and for extra-mild, tasty smokin' too. And most top-hands'll go along with that sentiment, all right!" We say Camel's the cigarette that agrees with us—all 'round!

Are Camels different from other cigarettes? "Yes," say smokers all over America. Millions know the big difference Camels make in smoking pleasure. Camels set you right!

CHUCK, HOW COULD ANYBODY SAY THAT ALL CIGARETTES ARE ALIKE? CAMELS ARE SURE 'WAY AHEAD IN MY ESTIMATION!

COW-PUNCHERS Curtis and Riegel certainly feel that there is a big difference between Camels and other cigarettes. Read what they say—at right!

On the air Tuesday nights—BENNY GOODMAN

Hear the one and only Benny Goodman "feel his stuff" on his famous clarinet—from "sweet music" to palpitating "killer dillers." NO SIR—I DON'T GO FOR THE IDEA OF ALL CIGARETTES BEIN' ALIKE. CAMELS ARE A SIGHT DIFFERENT FROM OTHER CIGARETTES. I'VE BEEN OPEN-MINDED AND TRIED 'EM ALL, BUT I ALWAYS COME BACK TO CAMELS. I FIND CAMELS AGREE WITH ME!

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic

"Finer, more expensive tobaccos—that's why we smoke Camels," say the men who grow and grade tobacco

Planter Jesse T. Hardy brings out the fact that Camel buyers take the better grades on the market. He says: "For years Camel has bought my best tobacco—paid more to get it. We planters around here smoke Camels because we know Camel buys the finer tobaccos."

"Raising tobacco is my business," says John Thomas Caraway, veteran grower. "Camel bought the best of my last season's crop, as they have for many a year. So I know Camel gets finer, COSTLIER tobaccos. Naturally, Camel is the big favorite with us growers."

LAGUNA BEACH POLICE CHIEF RESIGNS POST

LETTER FILED WITH COUNCIL

LAGUNA BEACH, July 11.—Abe W. Johnson, veteran chief of police, tendered his resignation to the city council today, effective immediately. The resignation, in two short lines, filed with City Clerk Ed H. Beaver, gave no reason for Johnson's action, which was unexpected. It is expected that the council will act at Wednesday's meeting. Speculation is rife as to the identity of Johnson's successor, many people favoring a promotion from within the ranks of the existing force of six men; but it is known that applicants from outside points have been considered, one such having been interviewed by the council last week.

Abe W. Johnson, for 40 years a resident of Orange county, much of which has been spent in Laguna Beach, was appointed on July 27, 1927, and in the 11 years since that time, has seen the town grow from hamlet site to its present proportions. Before the Coast highway was cut through from Newport, thereby putting Laguna on the direct route to San Diego, Laguna Beach virtually was only a summer colony. During prohibition days, many arrests of seaward rum-smugglers and highway booze runners were made by Johnson, who also handled the few instances of spectacular crime occurring at the beach city. As a member of the Orange County Peace Officers' association, Johnson is well-known throughout the southland, and has many friends in the motion picture world, as well as in local art and literary circles.

Plans for the event were made at a recent session of the group at the home of their leader, Mrs. Ralph Vile.

OUT OUR WAY

HOLD EVERYTHING!

PROMINENT YOUNG COUPLE OF PLACENTIA TAKE VOWS

PLACENTIA, July 11.—Kneeling on the altar bench, before a bank of white flowers, Miss Dorothy Solesbee and Clifford D. Lakeman exchanged wedding vows Saturday night, when Dr. D. J. Brigham, pastor of the Placentia Presbyterian church, read the rites at an 8:30 ceremony before 300 guests at the church.

The church had been arranged with white flowers, and with palms and candelabra, and the flowers were white gladiolus, dahlias and larkspur. Harold West and Gerald Watts lighted the candles. Miss Solesbee was led to the altar by her father, W. D. Solesbee and she wore a white satin gown, cut with a train and buttoned down the back to the waist. It had a yoke and an Elizabethan collar of lace and lace was added to the puffs of the long sleeves. Her bouquet included gardenias and lilies of the valley, while her long trained veil was caught to the head with a halo cap, and included two shoulder length veils of tulle. As her good luck charms, she wore her new frock, for something new, an old handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna Faust; a borrowed crystal bracelet, and a bit of blue delphinium in her bouquet.

Little five-year-old Betty Lou Boisseranc, niece of the bridegroom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boisseranc of Yorba, was flower girl. She wore a formal down blue frock, similar to those worn by the bridesmaids, and trimmed with coral ribbons, and double ruffles, and carried a basket of rose petals, which she threw in the path of the bride.

Miss Bobbie Jerome presented a recital prior to the ceremony, and played for the procession and recession of the party, using the conventional marches, the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lehengerin" for the processional, and the "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn for the recessional. Miss Jerome wore blue, also, similar to the gowns worn by the bridesmaids.

Moore of Fullerton sang prior to the wedding, "Because" and "Oh Promise Me." The Placentia Round Table club-house was reserved for 150 close friends of relatives for the reception.

In a biage pigskin dress, with copper blouse and accessories, the new Mrs. Lakeman left with Mr. Lakeman for a two-weeks honeymoon. On their return they will reside in Fullerton, where he is employed in his father's store, on East Commonwealth. Their place of residence has not been selected.

Both young people attended Fullerton union high school and district junior college. The bride received her elementary education at the Placentia grammar schools. She has been employed since graduation from junior college at the Placentia Bank of America.

Preparation and serving of the dinner will be in charge of local Boy Scouts, directed by J. F. Lockner, new Scoutmaster, since the transfer of the Rev. Oscar M. Newman to Los Angeles pastorate. BALBOA, July 11.—While Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Baxter, 314 Buena Vista, Balboa, were enjoying swimming, thieves entered their home and stole a solitaire diamond ring valued at $1500, according to reports filed with the police yesterday.

A next door neighbor, Mrs. Olive H. Whitney of Upland, said she saw three men ring the door bell of the Baxter home around 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and then enter the house. Mrs. Whitney said she believed they were guests and paid little attention to them.

In addition to the ring $13 was taken from a purse. Mrs. Baxter's solitaire was in a box on her dresser.

WILD LIFE IS SEEN IN HILLS

LA HABRA, July 11.—La Habra Heights, long famed for its many rare and beautiful tropical plants and trees is fast taking on a jungle effect in its wild life. Little green parakeets are no rarity now and can be seen almost any time one drives through these wooded hills. The birds seem almost tame and hardly care to get out of the way of the car.

Of late a new interest is at large in the hills. The pet monkey of one of the residents is loose and has been for a week or so. Jocko does not intend to be caught this time and swings from tree to tree in real native happiness. Passersby are somewhat puzzled as to what they have seen when the monkey leaps across in front of them, and resolutions may be made.

One amusing incident occurred Sunday when a couple were strolling along and peered into a metal drum by the side of the road. One hurried glance was enough and much haste was in evidence. A little way down the road the young man cautiously returned and tipped the drum over then again ran as if his life depended upon it. Slowly emerged a little skunk, and pattered into the bushes, happy to be freed from his predicament.

Many of the residents who have rare birds in their aviaries. Quail and doves are abundant in this area and night drivers are almost sure of seeing a possum or two.

FIRE IN CITY DUMP BRINGS SUIT FOR $475 BY RANCHER

LAGUNA BEACH, July 11.—Among the many claims, each unique in its own field, filed with the city council, is the claim of Chester Smith, rancher of Laguna canyon, who wants $475 for a number of things that he alleges happened to his property and peace of mind, subsequent to a fire, that blazed sulkily at the city dump, adjacent to his place, on May 15. On that date, Smith alleges, the flames hopped over a fence, and went to work on his land, the upshot being that among other things, "probable erosion, $75," was groundworked, so to speak.

Mr. Smith also lost, so he says, $300 in "feed damage," fence posts, $50 worth, were consumed; and the fence itself, deprived of support in the manner to which it had been accustomed, suffered immolation to the extent of another half-hundred clackers, or to be slangy, $50.

A triumvirate consisting of Councilman Tom Cummings, Street Superintendent Floyd Case, and Fire Chief Dee Woodward, has been appointed to consider the features of the complaint, and to affirm, deny, or concede the liability of the city for the various torts involved.

The "probable erosion" clause of the complaint is causing much lively speculation. Incidentally, the city dump is the site of the only Federal building in Laguna Beach; an appealing but strictly utilitarian structure, subject of a contract between the government and the city, whereby the Federal supplied the building—knocked down—the city supplied the labor of reassemblage, and then—vols! Yonder she sits, alongside the city dump, "aye, fear her tattered sign down," was the comment of an unreconstructed Southerner, viewing this monument to present-day architecture. Cost, $23.75.

Meanwhile, Mr. Smith's claim is being mulled over by the three committee-men to whom the matter has been entrusted, with instructions to report at a pending council meeting.

Set Deadline On Festival Entries

LAGUNA BEACH, July 11.—Next Friday has been set as deadline by the space committee of the Festival of Arts for allocating space to artists desirous of exhibiting at the festival. Booths and gallery space being limited, careful planning is necessary that all prospective exhibitors may secure adequate display.

Mrs. Martin may be reached, meanwhile, at Laguna 441, while Miss Woolley's telephone number is 4182.

First President to go beyond the legal boundaries of the United States while holding office was Grover Cleveland. He went out past the three-mile limit while fishing in the Atlantic ocean.

ART GROUP OF LAGUNA MEETS

LAGUNA BEACH, July 11.—The Laguna Beach Art association, at its Saturday night meeting, held an animated discussion, in the course of which new by-laws were adopted, another round fought out in the "Conservative vs. Modernistic" quarrel that has been raging, and other matters of importance discussed.

With over 60 present, the meeting was the largest in several years, many prominent artist and laymen members taking part in the discussions. One proposal, made by a conservative, to provide separate hanging spaces for examples of modernistic and more "orthodox" groups, failed of adoption; so the present system of mixed hanging will prevail, at least for a while.

Most important of the new by-laws adopted, include provisions that any officers of the association must be, for one year previous to election, "bona-fide residents of Laguna Beach." An "absentee ballot" question was considered, but was rejected. A nominating committee, to draw up the slates of candidates for the forthcoming election of officers and directors, was named, Grave Vollmer being chosen by the directors, and Katherine Conover, with H. K. Peabody, chosen from the floor, completing the committee. Elections will be held late in August.

BOAT MODELS MADE BY ORANGE YOUTH

ORANGE, July 11.—Robert Wegner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Wegner, 143 South Waverly street, has completed a number of beautifully made boat models, including both ancient and modern craft. One of the boats is a model of Vanderbilt's "Rainbow." There are cabin cruisers and a number which he built from his own designs.

The youth, a student at the Orange high school, has been building boat models since he was a grade school student. A model motor boat and model speed boat are quite large enough to hold small motors.

One of the models, which visitors to the home greatly admire, is a Barbary pirate ship a carved serpent is on the bow, natural colored poncey sidig is used for the sails and the tips are dyed blood red. Tiny ladders, carved lanterns, guns carved from wood and 20 oars are parts of the galley ship which flies the Tunis flag.

Robert is working for the summer at the Taylor Boat plant at Balboa. Recently Clifford McBride, artist, and his famous dog of comic supplement fame, were visitors at the plant where McBride same to discuss changes in his work.

From Thresher To Price Ticker — Record-Breaking Wheat Crop Moves to Market

It Pours from the Fields

Binders are clacking, combines are whirring, harvest hands are sweating and toiling—and the midwest's greatest wheat crop since 1931 is pouring into the market places in an ever-growing golden stream. Here are many bushels of freshly threshed wheat—lifeblood of the Great Plains region—being loaded on a Kansas farm.

Through the Hands of Buyers

Wheat moves rapidly to market after the harvest as farmers seek ready cash. Samples from thousands of freight cars are displayed on the Board of Trade floor at Kansas City. Here is a prospective buyer—just shopping around.

Who Frenziedly Follow Market Activity

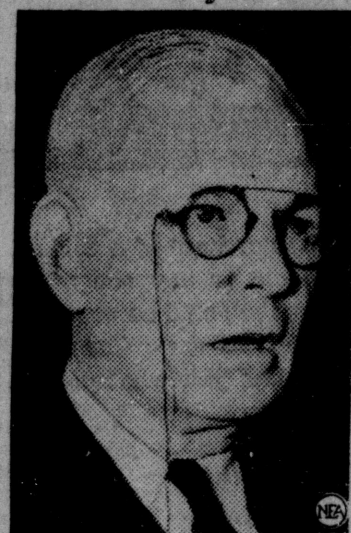

Just about the busiest place in the midwest these days is the Kansas City Board of Trade, where frenzied scenes occur as shirt-sleeved buyers shout and wave their arms in the fight to place big orders for wheat at prices they consider right. The Kansas City market is a bottleneck through which the grain must pass on its way to processing plants and flour mills. In one day recently, wheat receipts on the floor shown above were almost enough to feed two million people for a year.

As Price Moves Up

No less busy than the market operators are the employees who mark up the prices on the big board. With five and a half million bushels of the grain reaching Kansas City in one day, they must move fast to keep up with the ticker.

Plenty of Color In Oklahoma Primary Campaigns

Elmer Thomas

Gomer Smith

E. W. Marland

Key

Finley

The Oklahoma Democratic primary campaigns for U. S. senator and governor hold nation-wide interest because the Roosevelt administration is concerned about both. In the Senate race, the New Dealers want to re-elect Elmer Thomas. But giving the senator a hot fight is the colorful Gomer Smith, whose campaign methods are modeled on those of the late Huey Long. Smith, one-time head of the Townsend movement in Oklahoma, denounces both Senator Thomas and the third candidate, Gov. E. W. Marland, who is running as a 100 per cent New Dealer at the same time that he demands neutrality from the national administration. The New Dealers would like also to defeat William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray in the battle for the nomination for governor—but the rip-snorting "Alfalfa Bill" seems to have a lead over William S. Key, former state head of WPA; L. C. Phillips, former speaker of the state legislature; Jack Walton, who once held the office and was impeached; and Ira Finley, left-wing labor leader. The primaries are July 12.

How Stock Prices Took Leap Upward

Is this the beginning of another bull market—or just a flash in the pan? . . . Economists, stock exchange operators and business leaders debated that question as stock prices enjoyed an almost uninterrupted surge upward during a two-week period. The chart above, based on an index of 100 representative securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange, shows vividly how the black "price line" wriggled steadily but slowly upward starting in early spring, then zoomed dizzily and sensationally to new highs between June 18 and July 2. From 91 at the beginning of April, a peak of 102 was reached at the beginning of July. The short vertical lines at the bottom of the chart, representing daily sales in millions, also show the sudden skyrocketing effect of the bull influence.

Traffic Court for Minors Only

The wheels of justice were turned by youthful hands when a fun-or-traffic court was recently instituted at Miami, Fla., to discipline tomorrow's reckless motorists. In the photo above, two offenders are pictured being arraigned before the "Judge," young Tommy Andrews, who is an associate of the Miami Traffic Court.

Taps Over Gettysburg

The tumult and the shouting are over, the crowds have departed and the last embroidered reminiscence of the old soldiers has been told as peaceful night rings down the curtain on the final reunion of Civil War veterans on the field of Gettysburg. Pictured above is the scene presented by the encampment after the 1800 wearers of the Blue and Gray, now mostly just tired old men, had retired to their tents before leaving for home.

Count Shows Stoic Face to Excited Britons

Ignoring the crowds gathered about Bow Street Police Court as he whisked into his automobile, Count Haugwitz-Reventlow presented the above picture of a poker-face—expressionless, mouth set, eyes staring straight ahead, with no sign of being affected by the barrage of charges hurled about his head by counsel for his wife, the former Barbara Hutton.

Evidence of the interest of Londoners in the marital row between Count Haugwitz-Reventlow and his wife, the former Barbara Hutton, is given in this picture of sensation-seekers thronged outside the Bow Street Police Court. Inside, seated within a few feet of each other, the couple made charges and counter charges through their counsel in a two-hour hearing. The Countess accused her husband of making her fear for her life, and said he demanded $5,000,000 for a divorce and the custody of their 2-year-old son, Lance.

Moral: Don't Lose Your Head

Berliners were puzzled recently to see pedestrians and drivers of automotive vehicles parading around with their heads encased in wicker baskets, as pictured above, until they learned it was an object lesson to remind thoughtless walkers and careless drivers of their dangerous habits. At left, above, a motorcycle driver and passengers show how some motorists figuratively "lose their heads" in traffic, while at right a group of pedestrians pokes similar fun at jaywalkers. Put on during "Pedestrians' Day," the stunt was part of a campaign to reduce street accidents.

How "Iron Lung" Patient Will Seek Trail to Health

In the air-conditioned deluxe trailer pictured above at Miami, Fla., Fred B. Literally a rolling home, the trailer carries a kitchen, radio, hot and cold water, and electric refrigerator. By a system of mirrors over the "iron lung," Snite

ROOSEVELT EXPECTED TO AID MARVIN JONES

AMARILLO TALK SET FOR TODAY

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 11.—(UP)—President Roosevelt, refreshed by a week-end of rest at the ranch home of his son Elliott, today resumes his transcontinental speaking tour in the interests of "forward looking" candidates with a major speech at Amarillo, Tex.

The chief executive's departure from Fort Worth on his special train was scheduled for 10 a. m. At Amarillo, center of the Texas Panhandle country, observers expected Mr. Roosevelt to speak a kindly word for Rep. Marvin Jones, chairman of the House agriculture committee, who faces strong opposition in the July 23 primary election.

Brief Address

Mr. Roosevelt's address at Amarillo late this afternoon will be made from the rear platform of his train. His speech probably will be brief.

From Amarillo, the President will go to Pueblo, Colo., where he will deliver an address that has been the subject of much speculation among observers. It has not been disclosed whether the President would speak in complimentary terms about Senator Alva Adams, who must defeat Judge Benjamin C. Hilliard in the primary election Sept. 13 to become the Democratic nominee for the Senate. Adams, although not regarded as one of the New Deal's most loyal supporters, was the administration's floor manager in the Senate when the lending-spending program was under discussion.

Study Reactions

As the President pushed westward on his tour, advisers studied the reaction to Mr. Roosevelt's speeches in Ohio, Kentucky, Arkansas and Oklahoma in the interest of New Deal candidates. White House aides were interested in the national response to the tour as well as to the immediate reception in the states directly affected.

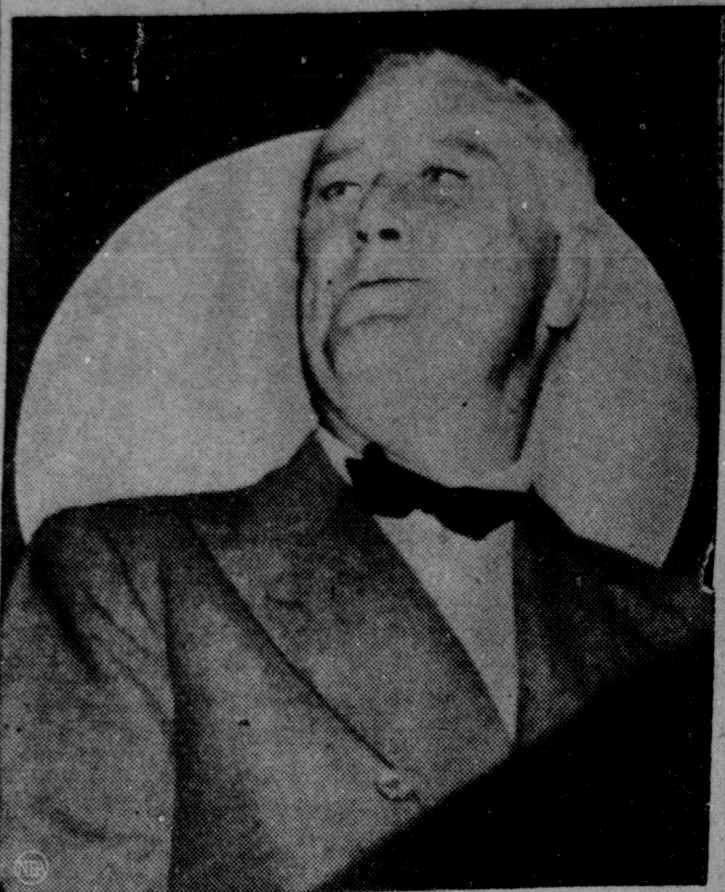

At Marietta, Ga., last Friday Mr. Roosevelt gave Senator Robert Bulkley a pat on the back. The same day, at Covington, Ky., he praised the work of Senator Alben Barkley, Senate majority leader, suggesting to Kentucky voters that it would be many years before Barkley's opponent, Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler, could assume the position in the Senate occupied by Barkley.

Endorses Candidates

From Kentucky Mr. Roosevelt headed toward Oklahoma. In Arkansas Senator Hattie Caraway boarded his train, and the President endorsed her as the type of "winner" that he preferred in Washington.

In Oklahoma Mr. Roosevelt inferentially gave Senator Elmer

FDR Heads for Amarillo Speech

Eyes alert and chin up, President Roosevelt is pictured as he left Ft. Worth, Tex., for Amarillo. While the President evidently had looked forward to the trip as a vacation jaunt, politicians in states he would visit today were busy wondering—and sometimes worrying—over the part he is playing in primary contests. Mr. Roosevelt has come out for those campaigning Democrats he calls "liberals."

Thomas a pat on the back by referring to him as "my old friend." Thomas faces strong opposition from Gov. E. W. Marland and Rep. Gomer Smith, a former official of the Townsend pension organization. In the one story ranch house that is the home of Elliott Roosevelt, the President spent a quiet day yesterday. Last night he made a five minute radio address to the residents of Texas.

Raps Low Wages

He reiterated his philosophy of higher wages, and a national prosperity based on equal economic treatment by the national government of all sections of the country. "In one sense," he said, "Texas is a great empire in itself. You can produce almost anything needed by man, but what gratifies me most of all is that the people of the Lone Star state are cooperating so well with all the other states of the union in working out our mutual national problems. In this way we will get away from spotty prosperity and work toward universal prosperity."

"You need more industries in Texas, but I know you realize the importance of not trying to get industries by the route of cheap wages for industrial workers. Cheap wages mean low buying power. Low buying power means low standards of living and that means low taxable values and therefore difficulty in maintaining good schools, highways, sanitation and other public improvements."

Heads for Coast

After his address tomorrow in Pueblo, Mr. Roosevelt will go directly to San Francisco. Thursday he will inspect the fleet in San Francisco bay and will deliver a major address in San Francisco.

Friday he will visit Yosemite national park, and Saturday he will make a tour of Los Angeles, speaking there briefly before going by automobile to San Diego. There, late Saturday afternoon, Mr. Roosevelt will go aboard the U. S. S. Houston for a cruise into tropical waters. His sea voyage will take him to the Galapagos islands, off the coast of Ecuador, Cocos Island, near the Pacific mouth of the Panama Canal, and the Canal Zone. He will return to the United States August 9th, disembarking at Pensacola, Fla.

All ships which arrive at Sydney, Australia, are searched for British coins; the coins have a greater value in Australia than in Great Britain.

Christian Science

Semi-annual Communion Services were conducted on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. "Sacrament" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon and the Golden Text was from Paul's letter to the Corinthians: "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth."

Among the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon were these words of Jesus from Mark: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. . . . And these signs shall follow them that believe: In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included the statement: "It is possible,—yes, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man, and woman,—to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and Life, of health and holiness."

RICHFIELD BOOSTS CRUDE OIL SUPPLY

Beginning with an estimated potential production of approximately 20,000 barrels daily at the time of the company's reorganization in March a year ago, Richfield Oil Corporation has steadily increased its crude oil reserves until it presents the estimated potential to be placed at around 46,000 barrels daily, an increase of roughly 130 per cent, officials declared today.

In compliance with curtailment regulations, however, Richfield is actually producing only 22,000 barrels of crude daily with the other 24,000 barrels daily shut in, it was pointed out. Current actual production of 22,000 barrels daily compares with 17,000 barrels of actual production in March a year ago.

"While this comparison indicates an increase of over 29 per cent, it does not reveal the correct relative importance of new production. Due to the normal decline in output from old wells, Richfield's current production, had no new wells been drilled, would be only a little over 12,000 barrels daily. On this basis," officials said, "present production represents an increase of around 10,000 barrels daily or over 83 per cent."

Yesterday: Miss Armstrong lectures to Tran but, unfortunately, the unpredictable seemed fated to happen.

CHAPTER IV

FOR the three months that followed Tran continued to be generally known as "Utility."

Which means that, by misfortune of being the junior probationer in the training school—if only by three days—she continued to be at the beck and call of every one.

Not that life for Tran was all made up of running errands. There were classes: anatomy, chemistry, biology, psychology.

Tran took these courses in her stride, although scholarship here was a much more exacting business than during her earlier school days—at Miss Brand's, or during those later years when Aunt Clara had left her casually a year at school in Germany or in France or in Italy. . . . "To ground you in languages, my dear. No gentleman is really educated unless he speaks at least three foreign tongues."

But learning from books had always been easy for Tran. . . . If it were all as simple as that! If it were not for remembering not to notice things that were funny, for instance.

IT was the demonstration class with Miss Philbin that she liked best.

The demonstration room was a complete ward in miniature, with cubicle bed, sterilizer, cabinets full of all the necessary paraphernalia of nursing. . . . Even a patient—the long-suffering dummy, whom probationers of former years had named "Griselda" because of the Spartan fortitude with which she underwent the most harrowing ordeals. Griselda's eyes were blue and staring in her pink wooden face, and she met clumsy student assaults upon her padded person with a set smirk of forgiveness.

In the demonstration class you learned to make a bed so that the sheets lay smooth and tight, with neatly mitered corners, the closed end of the pillows turned toward the door, and the castors parallel with the head and foot of the bed. With the solid co-operation of Griselda, you learned to move and bathe a patient in bed. You learned how to prepare a patient for various types of medical examination, how to give a hypodermic, how to prepare trays for the most exacting physician.

You learned everything, in fact, that you would later be required to do for living patients.

Then there were the glorified hours when—under the supervision of a graduate nurse, you were allowed to go into the wards and help in little humble probationary ways—like getting beds ready for other patients, for instance, or carrying trays to convalescents. Once or twice Tran was allowed to help one of the graduate nurses prepare a patient for pre-operative examination. This was standing on the threshold of the great adventure—as near as she could hope to get for months. Not until the end of a student nurse's first year did Saint Vincent's permit her to go into an operating room.

ON such occasions Tran walked on air—and almost burst with unspoken questions; for asking questions in the presence of patients was not tolerated. And there were some of the senior nurses who did not encourage it at any time. Tran wondered sometimes if that was because even they did not know quite all the answers. . . . Miss Miller did, of course; but "the icicle" was one who believed that probationers should be seen and not heard.

And how, Tran wondered, was a girl to get along in this strange world unless she could ask questions? Needless to say she did—to such an extent that before long the nickname of "Utility" began to give way to "The Elephant's Child."

Once or twice she managed to slip into one of the rooms where the cases of shining, wicked-looking surgical instruments stood. . . . This was one of the few things no one had thought of telling her she must not do without permission. . . . Standing before the glass doors, she would practice calling off as many of the names as she could remember. She would even practice operating room procedure with the scissors every nurse wore tucked into the back of her belt—slapping them smartly from one hand to the other, the way Miss Miller, in one of her more communicative moments, had told her she slapped instruments into the surgeon's hand when you were on duty in the operating room—calling them off in turn as she did so, in a kind of antiphonal chant in which she sang both parts.

"Scalpel" . . . That was supposed to be Dr. Sargent's clipped, peremptory voice requesting a knife. "Scalpel" . . . That was Nurse Dearborn's crisp confirmatory echo as she slapped the desired instrument into his rubber-gloved hand. . . . "Retractor"—Slap—"Retractor" . . . "Haemostat"—Slap—"Haemostat" . . . "Sponge"—Slap—"Sponge" . . . "Forceps"—Slap—"Forceps."

ONE day, when she had progressed triumphantly from "Scalpel" through a miscellaneous list of freshly learned terms to "Suture," her eyes as gravely intent in her pale face as if life and death hung upon her efficiency, a faint noise made her whirl. The noise had a familiar sound—like a cross between a sneeze and a sob.

Leaning against the door-frame behind her, his hands in the pockets of his white coat, was young Dr. Benchley.

"Might I ask—" he spoke with exaggerated respect, his dark eyes dancing in his ugly, charming face—"whether this is a tonsilectomy, an appendectomy, or an amputation? Because from the wicked assortment of weapons you seem to be using, I should say it must be nothing short of mayhem."

Abruptly Tran's gift of seeing herself in quite as ludicrous a light as the rest of the funny world got the better of her; and she began to laugh.

With a wary glance into the hall behind him, he caught her shoulders and shook her warningly; but as she continued to giggle in helpless mirth, he caught the infection, and they stood, clinging together and rocking with stifled laughter. . . . Until, for no reason at all, they were looking at each other with startled, sobered eyes. And then he had her in his arms, crushing her to him.

After a moment Tran cried, her palms against his chest, "No! No! I—we mustn't!"

"Why not?" he demanded, his lips close to hers. "You know I've been wanting to do this ever since that first day—when you burst into Emergency—remember? . . . You were so little and funny and scared and sweet. . . . Why not, Agnity?"

"It is contrary to the policy of this institution," Tran quoted from the House Rules—a little shakily, because his face aspartled with tender mischief, was still so close to hers—"for student nurses to have any but professional relations with house physicians."

"Student nurses—" young Dr. Benchley countered with another quotation from the same source—"are urged to be constantly alert to co-operate with physicians in any way."

At sight of her suddenly whitening face he turned sharply. For it was Tran who first saw the door into the corridor open, and a tall linen-clad figure halt in the doorway. . . . She tore herself free and ran—through the other door into Central Supplies, and on, blindly, down the corridor. For the white-clad figure in the doorway was none other than that of the terrible Dr. Stephen Sargent.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, July 11. — Idol Chatter: Maybe it's studio orders, but Hedy Lamarr, the "Ecstasy Girl," wears the most concealing swim suit in Hollywood. Things I never knew until now: that John Barrymore has a swell singing voice and a passion for operatic arias. Operator of Nevada's ritz-lest gambling casino assures me that one movie star per month is enough to pay his overhead and a nice profit. Studies in self-consciousness: a glamour girl who has just dropped a forkful.

The one sure way to find Gloria Stuart between pictures it to haunt the antique furniture auctions. Cited for the Croix de Merite: Marie Wilson—imagine a girl with such expressive eyes taking the trouble to study French and German? No danger of Hollywood's hairdriers going on strike as long as Joan Crawford has a shade left to try. Signs of the times: the expression in 16-year-old Mickey Rooney's eye when an underclass chorine strolls by. There is a floorwalker in a Los Angeles department store who could double for Gary Cooper.

Candidate for the moodiest man-in-town award: Ray Milland. Oh-year item from the publicity baggage: "Priscilla Lane spent $250 on long distance calls to Wayne Morris while he was on location"—at current rates she must have talked for ten solid hours! Wish Herbert Marshall would indulge in an off-screen smile now and then—just to break the melancholy monotony.

At a time when Rudolph Valentino's pictures are being reissued and the country is more Valentino-conscious than at any time since his death, his grace in the Hollywood cemetery has ceased to be the No. 1 tourist attraction of Filmville. The travelling public now gives precedence to the crypt where Jean Harlow's body lies. In the Forest Lawn cemetery at Glendale, ten miles from Hollywood. Driving past there Sunday, I stopped long enough to chat with one of the attendants who told me that at least a hundred people ask each day to be directed to the Harlow grave. Pictures of the crypt are sold in Hollywood view albums, "movie guides" include it in their itineraries. And I was touched by the guard's statement that almost every person visiting it leaves a bouquet of flowers and a tear.

Had dinner—and a good laugh—in one of Hollywood's most crowded cafes last night. Near my table sat Dilector Norman Taugros and his wife. Suddenly, in swept a stunning blonde. Catching sight of the Taugros, she dashed over to their table, threw her arms around Norman and gave him a resounding kiss. I don't think I have ever seen a wife more interested, or a husband more stricken with embarrassment. "You don't recognize me, do you?" the girl demanded. Norman gulped, admitted that he didn't, and almost spilled his soup in his confusion. "I," said the cause of it all, "used to be your favorite star when you directed me. My name is Mitzi Green!"

Blame the publicity lads for an—

$45,000 BOAT IS BATTERED BY WAVES

RUNS AGROUND WITH BIG CARGO

Workers today were salvaging the $45,000 83-foot purse seiner Kingfisher that ran aground at 15th street in Balboa harbor shortly after midnight yesterday, as the 1st member of the crew of 11 came ashore at 9 a.m. yesterday on a life-line cast by the Newport fire department to the vessel.

First distress call from the ship was given by radio by John Stam, aboard the Amarita, who heard the distress signals and broadcast them to the Newport police department. Two unidentified men, asleep on the beach near the spot where the ship was washed ashore, heard the ship as it rumbled toward the sand-bar.

Seas Pound Craft
Only the shell of the boat was left today as heavy seas had pounded the boat into a battered hulk, the entire superstructure having been swept away. Parts of the boat, including the hatch, and the dingy were washed along the shore from Newport to Balboa.

The ship came to rest on its side and today was buried deep in the sand.
Though doubt was expressed by Harbormaster Tommy Bouchey that the Kingfisher could be floated, the coast guard cutter Aurora stood by for assistance.

Thousands of Orange county residents last night viewed the spectacle as searchlights and more than 20 bonfires threw eerie lights over the beach and the pounding surf. As the last worker came over the life line, he stood in the glare of a searchlight amid the cheers of the crowd.

The seiner ran aground as it headed to port after fishing off the banks of the Orange county coast line. It carried almost 30 tons of bluefin tuna valued at $3000.

The Wrigley tug Milton S. Patrick, of San Pedro, the home port of the Kingfisher, towing another tug, arrived to take the cargo of fish from the ship.

It was the first voyage of the ship since the 73-day fishermen's strike ended last week.

$10,000 'JOBLESS' CHECKS WAIT CALL

SACRAMENTO, July 11.—Approximately $10,000 in unemployment compensation checks is waiting to be claimed at offices of the state department of employment.

This announcement was made today by W. F. French, chief of the division of unemployment compensation, who said every effort is being made to distribute these checks to the rightful owners.

List Is Mailed
Checks constantly are being returned to the department for want of sufficient addresses, French said.

A list of returned checks is mailed monthly to local offices of the department throughout the state, French pointed out, and claimants should glance through the list in those offices if they have failed to receive checks because of moving.

It is important for claimants to leave a correct forwarding address when they move, French said, as this will facilitate the distribution of their unemployment compensation.

BAPTIST MEETINGS WILL BE CONTINUED

The Baptist Meetings which have been in progress for the past two weeks in the big gospel tent at Walnut and Sycamore will continue this week.

The Rev. R. R. Pulliam took as his theme last night, "What Think Ye of Christ," and in his forceful, characteristic manner presented witness after witness. The speaker showed in the course of his argument that both friend and foe of Christ left a testimony that Christ is the Son of God.

The Highley Gospel Singers rendered several request numbers in song. Mrs. J. H. Westover of Yuma, Ariz., was a guest in the service last night, and was introduced by the Rev. Pulliam as the best worker he ever had in the membership of his pastorate. Announcement was made last night of the special service Tuesday night at which time the Rev. R. C. Fleisher, pastor of the Montebello Baptist church and Moderator of the Santa Ana Valley Baptist association will be the guest speaker. The public is invited to all of the services.

ONE GETS $150 FINE
Thomas Le Fevor, North Hollywood, was fined $150 when he appeared before City Judge J. G. Mitchell Saturday on drunk driving charge. Felix Juarez, Oxnard, was fined $10 for speeding. William Clapp, Santa Ana, who was fined $15 for speeding, paid the court 60 cents and agreed to work out the remainder of the fine.

County's Bid for Rodeo Fame

Audrey Gray of Costa Mesa, above, who will represent Orange county at the famous Salinas Rodeo to compete for the state title of Outdoor Girl. She won the right to represent the county at the recent Santa Ana Horse Show.

ATTRACTIVE AUDREY GRAY IS ENVOY OF COUNTY TO SALINAS

Pretty Audrey Gray of Costa Mesa leaves tonight for Salinas, the Orange county representative in the state-wide contest at the Salinas Rodeo for Outdoor Girl. The dates of the state contest at Salinas are July 14 and 15.

Miss Gray won the right to represent the county at the recent Santa Ana Horse Show. An outstanding scholar and an expert horsewoman, Miss Gray easily qualifies as a competitor. Horse shows are nothing new to her. She has been riding ever since she was a mere tot. She learned to ride on a Shetland pony, which was one of her earliest possessions. She has taken part in rodeos and horse shows. The charming Costa Mesa miss has been in scholarship ever since she entered junior high school in Long Beach. Last year she was secretary of the Laguna Beach High school scholarship society. At present she is a high school junior, a member of the honor society and an all-around outdoor girl. She is 15 years of age. The contest in Salinas is equally divided into four parts. Twenty-five per cent is scored for scholarship, personality, outdoor appearance and horsemanship.

CITY PONDERERS PLAN TO ACT AS WATER-SOFTENER LESSOR

Considering the possibility of buying a group of automatic water softeners, manufactured by a San Francisco firm, for the purpose of placing them at the disposal of local citizens on a rental basis, city council has installed one of them at the city water department plant as an experiment, it was learned today.

Hardness of the Santa Ana water, which results in loss of soap in washing or bathing was given by officials as one of the principal reasons for the proposal to the council. Soft water is more healthful, too, they stated. Hardness of Santa Ana water is only average, however, it was said.

Zeolite Used
The water softener tank which works on the filtration principle with use of zeolite mineral, resembles a small water heater, cylindrical with diameter of about one foot and height of four feet. Zeolite may be used either in its original form as mined or after it is refined.

The firm's suggestion was placed before the council informally by Water Superintendent Hugh Neighbour, although he made no official recommendation concerning the water softener's use here, records show.

Exchanges Base
Zeolites used for water softening are complex, insoluble, mineral compounds consisting, in general, of double silicates of aluminum, iron, or both. Chief Engineer George Shippe of the water department said.

MARKET PRORATE ON TOMATOES OPENS TODAY IN LOCAL AREA

A market prorate on tomatoes began today in Southern California. Producers of tomatoes have been warned that all containers carrying tomatoes to the market must have prorate stamps attached to them, and that the producers must have secured primary certificates from the California prorate commission.

Zone agents for Orange county schedule for each Saturday for the include R. A. Chaffee, Garden Grove, whose territory covers the section east of the Santa Ana river and south of Santiago creek; J. L. Johnson, Brookhurst road, Garden Grove, administering the territory south of Ocean avenue and west of Santa Ana river; and A. A. Fischer, Ball road, Anaheim, who will cover the district north of Ocean avenue and west of the Santa Ana river, and the balance of the county east of the river. Fischer has announced his

CITRUS PLANT OPEN TO PUBLIC

Open house at the new Anaheim plant of Cal-Juices, Inc., at Anaheim, on Friday afternoon and evening, July 15, is expected to draw more than three thousand persons to see in operation the most modern of machinery for production of citrus by-products. The public is invited to visit and inspect the plant between the hours of 3 and 9 p. m.

Installation of machinery was completed last week and, according to Guy Baker, production manager, test runs now being made will assure the smooth working of all branches of the plant by the day of the open house.

Follow Production Line
Visitors will be conducted on their tour through the main building, the adjacent buildings and warehouse. In the main building, which occupies 100x160 feet of ground, and contains two stories and full basement, the visitors will follow the production line from the unloading platform, past storage bins, sterilizing tank, automatic reamers, oil extracting machinery, juice canning units and cow-feed dehydrator.

In all of its aspects the building and equipment are designed for maximum cleanliness and sanitation. Mastic floors, interior decoration, natural and artificial illumination all are designed for the purpose of sanitary and efficient production.

Variety of Products
Cal-Juices Inc., is a cooperative concern, serving the packing associations of Mutual Orange Distributors. The five packing houses which organized the by-products plant are: Anaheim Cooperative Orange association, Fullerton Cooperative Orange association, Garden Grove Mutual Orange association, Olive Hillside Groves, and Orange Mutual Citrus association.

The plant will be prepared to produce citrus juices, concentrates, cow feed, and extracted oils and prepare stock for orange sherbet, fountain syrups and flavorings.

PET TALKS

—By Mrs. T. J. Neal—
The world's first sports section with feathered pictures was "run off" on stone, published at the Tomb of Amen, in the valley of the Nile, between 4000 and 3500 B. C. The sport was deer hunting and the dogs were greyhounds. In ancient times, there were no great variety of sports; chariot racing and dog coursing seem to have been the favorites. The dog was the most popular means of sporting recreation in the days of the Pharaohs.

Wild birds are one of the most important things in all the world. If they were all to suddenly disappear, every living thing on the face of the earth, ourselves included, would shortly die of starvation.

Pacific waves down Laguna way were sugar-coated the other day when Lollipop, a diminutive Pekingese owned by the Griffiths, of movie fame, decided she would go in search of cat-fish, mermaids, or something, so barked "Anchors Aweigh" and headed for Catalina. The Pacific pond is pretty deep and Catalina, pretty far away for such short legs as little Lollipops and it wasn't long until she was in the way to Davy Jones locker or wherever adventuresome, sea-going dogs go. Frank Eklof, noticing the tragedy, plunged in, full dress and all, and made the rescue. It took fifteen minutes of hard resuscitation work before Lollipop could lift her eyebrows and assure her mistress that she didn't care any more about cat-fish, mermaids, or the big Pacific.

Girls Smash Auto Glass With Bottle

Two small girls who hurled a bottle of water at the car of G. C. McCurry, Whittier, during the week-end and scored a "bulls-eye" were sought unsuccessfully by Deputy Sheriffs Ezra Stanley and Fred Swayze.

McCurry said he was driving on Orangeflower avenue, near Grand, Buena Park, when the bottle smashed a wind-wing of his car. The girls, about 11 years old, then ran through an orange grove and escaped.

FIRE LAID TO BOYS
Investigating the possibility that a fire on the L. Keener ranch, Wintersburg, Saturday afternoon might have been of incendiary origin, Deputy Sheriffs Duhart and John Gilmore reported they believed some small boys, smoking behind the garage, had set the fire accidentally. The fire damaged a fence. The boys had disappeared.

TWO HELD IN FIGHT
Assault and battery and disturbing the peace charges were filed against Anthony Dentice, 41, and Don Cameron, 38, both of Palm Springs, when they were arrested early yesterday at Laguna Beach. Constable E. T. Cresce brought the men to county jail.

tomato prorate officials that no prorate on cannery tomatoes is contemplated at the present time. Provision by legislation had been made for such a prorate, if conditions demanded.

72 S. A. Boys On Trek to Mountains

Seventy-two Santa Ana boys piled a truck high with luggage and filled two buses as they left the city this morning for the annual Y. M. C. A. encampment at Camp Osceloa, at the headwaters of the Santa Ana river in the San Bernardino mountains.

The "gang" was augmented by the arrival of seven boys and two leaders from Inglewood who joined the group. Eight leaders for the group from Santa Ana, headed by Herbert Thomas, camp director, accompanied the entourage. The camp is 85 miles from Santa Ana at the base of Greyback mountain.

TOO DRUNK TO PROTEST
Called to Westminster to investigate a burglary late Saturday night, Deputy Sheriffs A. W. Anderson and George Portus reported they found the complainant so intoxicated he was unable to give details of the alleged crime. The officers returned to patrol duty.

MUSICAL THIEVES SOUGHT
Hungry thieves with ears for music burglarized the Harold Paulus home on Orange-Olive road, Olive, Saturday. Paulus told sheriff's officers. They cut a door screen, entered the place, stole a quart of milk, some tomatoes and a $15 radio. After ransacking the entire house, they left. According to neighbors, two boys were seen in front of the Paulus place about the time of the burglary.

The average motor car now in use is nearly five years old.

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

It is too bad that this page isn't a broadcasting station so that more people could hear about this amazing new way of losing those hard-to-lose pounds that stand like Gibraltar at the start of a diet or along about the end. Read carefully, then decide whether or not you can take what I am about to propose. I was my own "guinea pig" and can assure you the food isn't at all unpalatable.

The stumbling stone in all reducing diets in the limited amount of food. Take away that impediment by filling the stomach with some sort of bulk, and the mental urge to eat disappears. For bulk I have chosen to use on of the agar-like products sold under the trade-name of "Kharagum." (Blond "Sarakas" is quite like it). Either substance is an inert bulk-filler without food value, and is said to contain no cathartic. The allowance for three meals is three teaspoonfuls of the substance soaked in one pint of hot or cold water. When fully soaked it resembles boiled tapioca. With this substance is allowed (for the three meals) coffee with hot skimmed milk, three cups of whole milk, 10 teaspoonfuls (level) of white or brown sugar, and two cups of berries. Garnish the filler as you would a cereal...sugar, milk and berries. On this allowance of 900 calories per day weight just begins to move on. As soon as a definite loss of weight is apparent, substitute a meal of cooked green vegetables, lean meat or egg, for one of the "filler" meals. (If you suffer from constipation, enemas may be necessary occasionally.)

Of course, the filler meals aren't meant to be permanent, just to start loss of weight in a hurry. They, you are supposed to switch to the regulation diet for reduction. Write for our Safe and Sane diet (please enclose 1.00 envelope).

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

INFANT CARE AND ROUTINE

A clock is one of the most necessary articles in a mother's outfit. The baby's schedule must be attuned to the clock. A little child thrives best on a routine, the same thing at the same time every day. It won't do to say, "In a few minutes I'll feed him." He must be fed on the dot—when the clock says it is time.

This is not being fussy. It is being wise. By doing the same thing at the same time in the same way the baby learns to live easily, surely. He looks forward to the things that make him feel easy and comfortable. So, feed the baby in the same way at the same time each day, and feed him yourself. That is very important.

The same person should tend the baby during the early months of his life. He grows accustomed to the presence, the hands, the voice and the manner of the one who takes care of him. He learns to love and to trust that person above all others—and, of course, mother should be that person. She is the one to establish this intimate relationship.

Doing the same thing at the same time daily sets the habits of the body. Properly trained, the body will take over the habits of eating, drinking, sleeping, eliminating at certain fixed hours, provided those hours are set by the clock. Habit formation means a great deal to the mental health of a child, and I am praying that this generation of mothers will consider gravely the mental health of their children. Body health cannot be perfect unless mental health is perfect too. The health of the body has been largely assured by nature. The normal child is endowed with health from the start. He has within him powers of resistance and recuperation. If he is ill he helps himself to get over it, and with a bit of care he is well again. If he hurts himself he soon heals. But mental health once lost is not so easy to regain. We know that certain influences the bad for the mental health of a child. Fear is one of the worst. So do your best not to frighten the baby. No loud noises, no shouting, no unusual experiences. Any emotional shock, anything that upsets the baby is bad, very bad. Avoid it. Keep the baby on an even keel of living and you will protect his mental and physical health. You will insure his growth and his future success.

Following the schedule as set by the clock is one of the best ways of saving the baby from the unexpected. Carefully write down the orders of the doctor and the nurse; ask their help in setting the schedule; and then follow it as you would the Commandments. If you do that you surround the baby with an atmosphere of security, serenity, faith, hope. In that atmosphere your baby will grow in strength, intelligence and beauty.

When you routine the baby's day, you routine your own. In that way you save yourself wear and tear. The clock saves you from slavery. Watch the clock. Follow the schedule.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply. (Copyright, 1938, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

COMMON SENSE

A good substitute for the term "agricultural marketing cooperation" would be "common sense operation."

Cooperation is simply sound business practice on the part of the grower. The growth and progress of American industry was largely the result of the application of the cooperative principle. The growth of American agriculture will be largely the result of the same factor.

One farmer, standing alone, can have no choice in determining markets, prices, agricultural policies or such other vital matters. Ten thousand growers, represented by an aggressive, responsible organization, can stand on their own feet and fight their own battles. That's "common sense operation."

TAX NIGHTMARE COMING

Twelve months from now, according to slide rule calculations of a government economist, the national debt of the federal government will be in excess of 43 billion dollars—double what it was five years ago. For the fiscal year 1939, beginning July 1, next, congress has authorized the expenditure of 12.5 billions, six billions of which will be "deficit financed."

Breaking this sum down, it is found that during fiscal 1929, the federal government will spend $1,027,397,250 a month; $34,246,575 every day; $1,426,940 each hour; $23,782 every minute; or $396 every second.

So what! Soak the rich, you say? According to the government economist (who got his figures from a treasury report), only 43 people out of the 130,000,000 in the United States had incomes of a million dollars or more in 1937. Their aggregate income was 73 million dollars and if every penny was squeezed from them it would barely meet the government expenditures for 48 hours.

Once more we are forcibly reminded that taxes—and deficits—are paid in the sweat of labor by the average citizen.

SUMMER SOLUTIONS

When you stop to think that if all the peace proposals that have been made in the last couple of years were dealt around among the inhabitants of the earth there'd probably be at least one for every man, woman, and child, you can't help but wonder if maybe after all it is man that makes war or some unearthly demon.

Among recent arrivals is the suggestion of a professor of philosophy that a woman be made secretary of war. Women, he says, are by nature more peaceful than men, and less likely to start throwing remarks and punches until it appears there's no other choice.

There also comes to hand news of a couple of young Englishmen who want to run a foot race around the deck of an ocean liner boat from England to America, thus running all the way between the two countries and demonstrating, they say, everybody's neighborliness under the skin. They write to an American magazine asking for the boat fare.

The most practical of the recent proposals comes from a woman who suggests that the best method of building up a thoroughly effective anti-war sentiment is for women of the world to start pounding the peace idea into the heads of the next generation while it's still in the cradle, and keep at it till it takes effect.

That, at least, gets a little closer to the root of the matter.

A WORTHY PROPOSAL

Members of the California Highway Patrol are submitting to the voters, at the November election, a proposal that should meet with the approval of a great majority of our citizens.

The proposed amendment seeks to place regulation of vehicular traffic, accident prevention and traffic law enforcement in the new California Highway Patrol under a California Traffic Safety Commission, and transfers the personnel, property and support funds from the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The purpose of the bill is to place the patrol on an equal basis with all other important departments of state government, free to act where the duties are prescribed and to enforce the law. Under the bill the patrol will be responsible to the people of the state, the governor, the legislature and the administrative commission. This commission will consist of three members, the attorney general, the controller and the director of finance for the State of California. The members of the commission will receive no salary as their duties will be purely administrative and advisory and they will serve for the duration of their terms in office to which they are elected or appointed.

Under the proposal appointments to the patrol will be the same as at present. Original positions will be filled by entrance examinations and advancement to higher grades will be made by promotional examinations.

Another proposal made by the automobile clubs of the state is being advocated. This proposal, however, would create a commission of six with salaries of $5000 each yearly. The commission members would be appointed and there is little doubt but what the auto clubs would have a hand in naming the commission. In addition, the proposal calls for the commission to take over all the highways, construction and maintenance. It doesn't take much of an imagination to see what the result would be.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON
World Copyright 1938
By King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Dispute with the national labor relations board is not confined to the AFL and business. Many an ardent New Deal official is barely concealing slight nausea at the way the board is being run, including no less a labor advocate than—doubt it not—Madame Labor Secretary Perkins.

Miss Perkins is being quoted by her best friend—who no doubt is translating her usually perfect English into their own vernacular—as saying the board is "a bunch of nuts."

Her specific complaints are these: The board is unfair in many of its decisions. It picks its cases for publicity purposes.

It lets some cases go for months and jumps to other cases where it can help CIO and make the front page, even though the Wagner Act is not involved (for instance mediation cases).

For official family reasons these unorthodox administration views may never be stated officially, but Miss Perkins could make out a case, if called upon. Most notorious recent development along that line was the board's delay of the west coast longshoremen's case until the day after Lundberg's master, mates and pilots, in conjunction with the firemen and teamsters, had voted to go with AFL.

The trouble will certainly come to the surface, however, when board member Donald Wakefield Smith comes up for reappointment next month. He is a Guffey appointee who will be ardently opposed by Miss Perkins and others on the ground that he rarely approves a board decision unless the CIO has an organization interest in it.

The treasury thinkers are supposed to be thinking up a new undistributed earnings tax scheme—another "third basket" with spikes in it.

The embryo idea is to base the tax of surpluses upon the number of stockholders in a corporation, thus taxing closely-held corporations more than larger ones. That is, a company which has a million dollars surplus for reserves and a million stockholders would pay a moderate undistributed earnings rate while a similar million dollar corporation with four stockholders would pay many times as much. A sliding scale would be worked out on this basis.

It is virtually the same old basket that congress knocked a hole in last session, repainted, but the hole is still there.

As things stand now, there is not a chance that congress would enact such a proposal. Even some of those legislators who stood for the third basket last session have come to acknowledge, privately now, the error of that way of thinking.

The lesson learned from the last tussle over the question is that when you hit the operating company, instead of the holding company, you discriminate unjustly against a very large group of bona fide operating companies which comprise the industrial backbone of the country. A big majority of congressmen have come to the conclusion it cannot be done that way.

The British have lived up to their reputations as the toughest, shrewdest diplomatic traders in the world at these inside negotiations for an Anglo-American trade agreement. The unadvertised disruption of dickering is being called a "temporary impasse," but there will be many more before an agreement is reached. State department negotiators are trying, for once, not to lose a conference with the British, which means the treaty will take a long-long time.

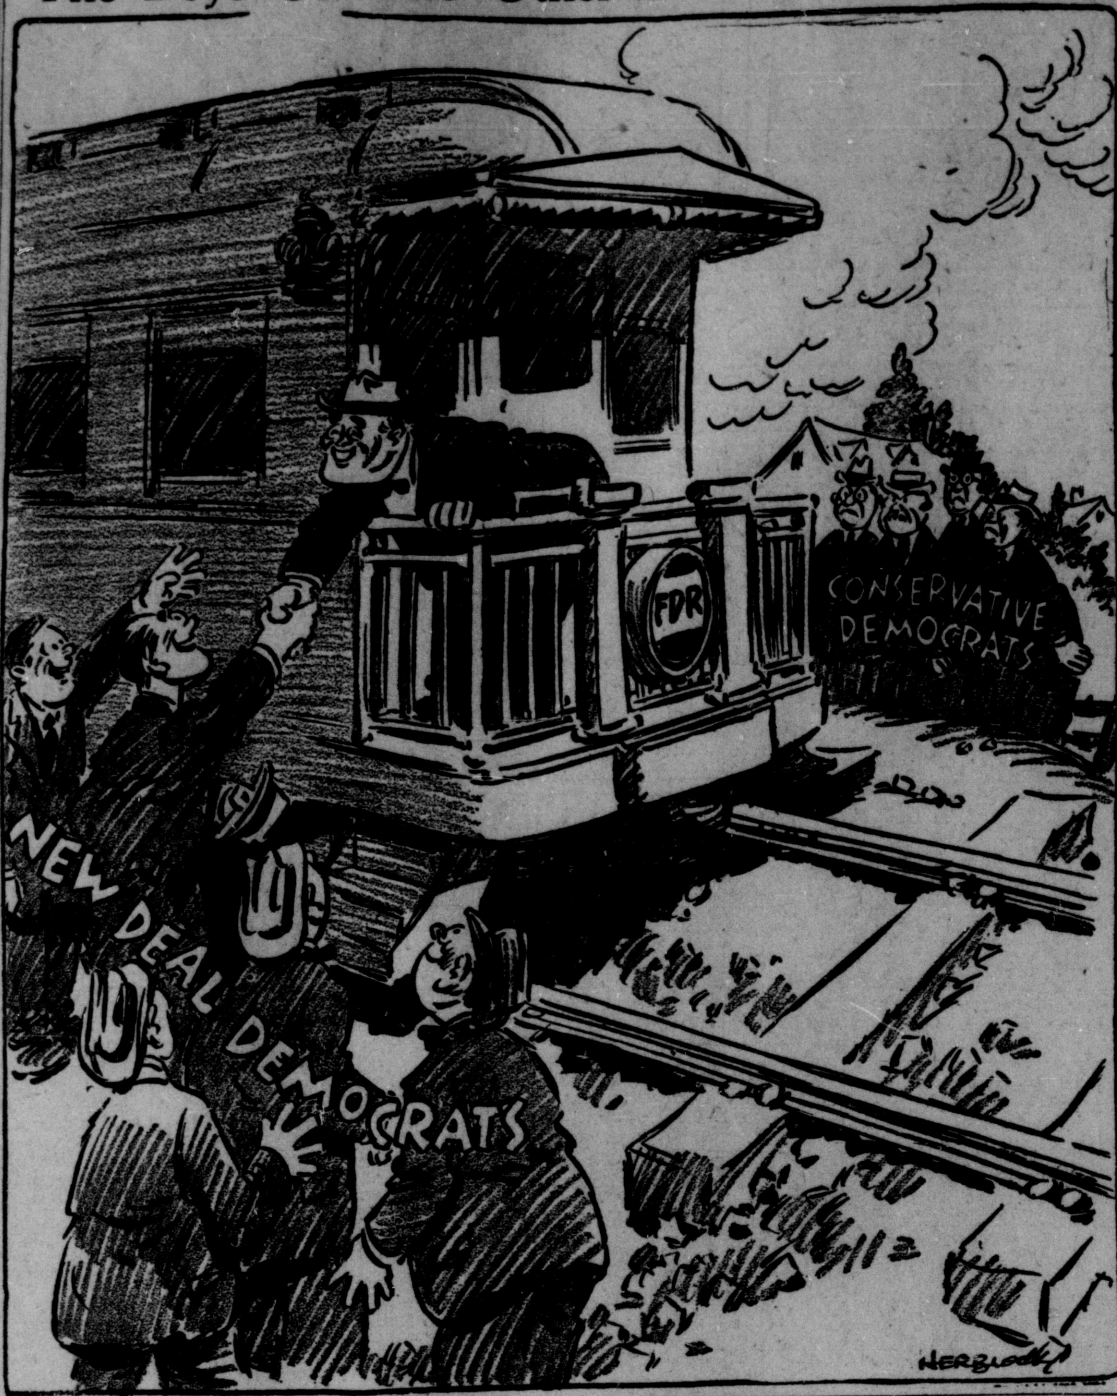

ness is being made by a midwestern Democratic congressman in his campaign for re-election. While most legislators denounce the charge that they work for special interests, this one is glorifying his work in their behalf.

He has inserted in the congressional record letters from the secretary of a sugar workers conference thanking him for supporting the sugar bill; from a CIO official thanking him for supporting the oil workers union; from the brewers for the import tax on foreign beer; from the postoffice clerks, the veterans, and on and on.

Without fanfare, the state department is going after foreign propagandists in the U. S. An unnoted law requires the department to register all such, leaving the department to decide who is a propagandist. Interpreted literally, it would require registrations of all foreigners in this country except the ambassadors and their staff. It may not be interpreted literally, but the department bill certainly gleefully catches all the Spanish loyalist agents who have been promoting their cause lavishly but ineffectively.

The tiny vine aphid, an insect introduced into Europe from America, did such enormous damage to vineyards that an international convention was called to deal with it.

Clearing House

Fellow citizens: In a recent article Sharpless Walker took Ben Mullen and my old friend Lew Betts across the parental knee for a lesson in new economics, via the shingle method. The amateurish method by which he applies the corporal punishment easily shows why the castigation pains Mr. Walker more than his two refractory pupils.

Since I subscribe to the views of his two pupils, perhaps I could get into the economics class.

Our teacher seems to be in a fog, however, on what causes unemployment. He blames machines. Well then let's destroy the machines and go back to the wildest African civilization, or lack of it. Let's call home all missionaries. Their influence might bring in modern machinery and destroy the more abundant life in countries where they have only hand labor.

Machines are held up as the reason why all these impossible pension plans, such as the California Pension plan and the Townsend plan are necessary. I might here remind Mr. Walker that industry does not function primarily for the purpose of creating employment to a maximum number of people. If that were the case, lawyers should not install a typewriter in their offices, presided over by one girl. Rather they should employ several copy clerks to do the work now done by one girl and a typewriter.

Industry functions to produce goods which people want to buy, and at a price that makes them attractive to the buyer, and at the same time at a price that gives the producer all the profit he can safely take without making the price unattractive to the buyer, or making the cost of production too unattractive to those who assist in the production.

Another thing Mr. Walker apparently overlooks is the fact that the buyer must be able to buy all the goods produced by hand labor, and at a price to make a profit to the producer, or the laborers will be thrown out of employment. Now if the public can buy all the goods produced by hand labor, then the machine producing goods, which eliminates hand labor, would give the public more for its purchasing power, or the same goods for less purchasing power.

This leaves the buyer with a reserve of purchasing power which is no good to him unless those thrown out of work by the machine produce other goods which the buyer wants. At any rate there is no loss of purchasing power, but there is an increase in goods, and the whole people benefit thereby. I claim that the way to the more abundant life is through economical production of desirable goods and not throwing a monkey wrench into the machine.

THE DEVALUATION HERESY

By WALTER E. SPAHR
Professor of Economics, New York University

The statement of Secretary Morgenthau to the effect that the President is not contemplating further devaluation of the currency is indeed, encouraging.

Trade, business and economic welfare are fostered by a standard currency unit of fixed weight in which people have confidence. So long as there are prospects that the standard is being changed, doubts and uncertainties prevail, and normal contracts and commitments give way to speculation and gambling regarding the future value of the currency.

An even greater service could be rendered this nation if the President would reaffirm Secretary Morgenthau's statement and go one step further in asserting that he would not only not devalue the dollar further, but would recommend to Congress that the Act of May 12, 1933, as amended, by which he was given authority to reduce the weight of the standard gold dollar unit to 50 per cent of its previous weight, be repealed. So long as this law remains in force, and so long as the authority to reduce the present 50 per cent to 50 per cent of the present 1934 "100 per cent" dollar, doubts will prevail as to whether Secretary Morgenthau can make his recent anti-devaluation statement "stick." Many people know full well that he has made admirable statements as to fiscal or monetary policy in the past, but his policies in the past which were nullified later by Presidential or Congressional action.

If, therefore, whether the American public and Europe can be fully assured that our standard gold unit will not again be manipulated unless both the President and Congress also take the steps suggested.

There are groups in this country even today and night to the devaluation of the dollar. Certain groups interested in building up their exports, certain farm bureaus and federations, and the Committee for the Nation, among others, have been agitating persistently for devaluation of the dollar. As an example of the typical attitude and procedure of the Committee for the Nation, it sent a telegram to Secretary Morgenthau on June 21 denouncing him for denying formally the current reports that the United States is contemplating further devaluation of the dollar. It was this Committee, and those persons allied with it, that sold the New Deal Administration the devaluation and cheaper money bill of goods in 1933-1934. This Committee has worked persistently for currency inflation, devaluation, the silver subsidies, and what its members euphemistically call a "managed" currency. The inflationist, Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, has been perhaps the chief ally of the Committee in Congress. The devaluation theories of the late Professor Warren of Cornell University have been propagated steadily by this Committee, and it was his theory that was placed in effect by the government from October, 1933 to January 31, 1934.

The most experienced and reputable monetary authorities of this country have consistently opposed the theories of the Warren-Thomas Committee for the Nation clique. There is not a valid argument that can be offered for devaluation of the dollar from the point of view of the national welfare. Why should we export more goods for less money in terms of gold? Why should the cost of their debts to us be reduced? Why should we reduce the cost of our goods to foreigners while leaving the cost the same, or making it higher, to our domestic purchasers? Why should the costs of important and necessary raw materials, which we must import, be increased? Why should we make our money buy less and other peoples' money buy more? Why do people persist in confusing a medium of exchange with real wealth in the form of the goods and services which are produced, used and consumed?

The devaluationists in this country are a dangerous group of financial heretics, and it is encouraging to find Secretary Morgenthau taking a public stand against any further employment of their heresies. It is earnestly to be hoped that the President and Congress will follow the intelligent guidance of the Secretary of the Treasury.

States is this family and their Wall Street spider-web of George W. Norris, the J. P. Morgan and Standard Oil Rockefeller financiers; with Morgenthau Jr., our secretary of the U. S. treasury and $1,800,000,000 stabilization fund, accountable to President Roosevelt only as to what he does with it. With the control of all the deposits of all the people of the above countries they manipulate us in the "New Deal" game of finance.

This is a Jewish family, and are no more Christians than Mohammedans, and they are even now, their Bible says, "Unto a stranger thou mayest lend upon usury, but unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon usury: that the Lord thy God may bless thee in all that thou settest thine hand to in the land whither thou goest to possess."

The history of the Israelite tribe in its massacre of the tribes is worse than that of Japan today and we have Shylock still demanding usury of the stranger. We have the system of debt, interest and compound interest taught in our schools as being honest and lawful. In Ohio it is lawful up to 36 per cent on chattel loans. Our sky pilot and the Jew have repeated the Lord's Prayer like a parrot and I doubt if it goes any farther up. The Bible is full of economic and legislative Deuteronomy, etc., against usury and debts. Our preachers don't dare preach Christianity or their salaries would disappear entirely. With our benevolent HOLC foreclosing on the poor people's homes 141,000 and more, never a

JOHNSON SAYS

BETHANY BEACH, Del.—Jim Farley went nobly to bat for his boss over the air at the University of Virginia's annual forum. On the same day, Alf Landon was shelling him by radio from Council Bluffs, Iowa. Both were keynote speeches for the Congressional campaign.

Jim seems business leaders at last understanding what the government has been trying to do for them. Thus illumined, he imagines industrial big-shots at last rallying to the Third New Deal. It is not a "government of visionaries." The President is no more to be swayed by extremists of the left than by "financial glands." There is no danger to the system or any American institution. As usual in all recent administration speeches there is a catalogue of blessings, reforms and "benefits" to the mass of the people which the Third New Deal has brought.

Mr. Landon wants to know just what permanent blessings there are. He sees unemployment no less after five years of effort and 20 billions of spending. He fails to see any improvement in any of these economic conditions which make for continued prosperity, except such temporary spurts as can be purchased through spending, debt and taxes, leaving the underlying conditions worse when the spurt is over. He doesn't agree that what is being done is in accord with the American system and he does see danger to one American institution—liberal democracy—in favor of one-man government.

Mr. Landon aligns himself with the "yes-butters" by pulling the old one which the President so much protests—"we all agree with your objectives but condemn your methods and policies." But Alf gives it a new and scorching twist—after five years. You haven't truly reached any of your objectives and the reason is that you have used the wrong methods and policies.

Except for that contribution there is nothing new and sparkling about either of these speeches. They are important, because if you study each one carefully, you can avoid reading or listening to several million words of political caterwauling that will churn the air and preempt the press between now and November. They contain about all there is to the argument.

It is difficult to question Alf's assertion that nothing fundamental in our halting economic system has been permanently repaired. No informed person can doubt that the trend is toward one-man government.

The trouble with Alf's speech is that it is sterile of suggestions. If you are going to say: "OK on objectives—thumbs down on methods," you should propose better methods. This Alf fails to do except in the vaguest generalities.

The trouble with Jim's effort is a doubt of his accuracy. The new cooperation he sees with business is the steel industry's liberalizing its price and basing-point system without cuts. The truth is that this was a ransom it paid at a pistol's point when some of its leaders were about to Washington and that that if it didn't do that, the monopoly investigation would put it first on the operating table, take its intestines out and wrap them in a warm wet towel. There is no love feast yet. That kind of hi-jacking doesn't beget love.

Jim surely doesn't believe that the President is not swayed by the "extremists of the left." He couldn't be swayed much by anybody else, because such people are the only kind he has in his inner circle of intimate advisers. Nobody has suffered more from that fact than Mr. Farley himself. That is also why Jim is off base when he says that this is no government of "visionaries." No phrase ever better described "The election issues are unfortunately very vague. They all boil down simply to this: 'Would we get along better if we kicked out the present crowd?'" word from the churches. Why? The Jew sowed usury and is reaping confiscation and persecution. Did you ever hear the Jew repeat the Golden Rule? Whenever we the people destroy the usury system there will be no need to destroy "Our Daily Bread" for a price to pay usury. With modern powered machines and the use of man's brains in its use, to make clothing out of cotton, wool, and shoes from leather every man can be a king, with the Golden Rule.

People seem to be just grumbling like a drowning person, even "Jimmy got it." In 3000 years of recorded history the Jew has been hated. Why? In Arabian stories, once a king died and when his son became ruler he wanted to see his father's treasury store in the cellar. He found a statue there, the head was of gold and precious stones; the body of silver, the legs of brass and the feet of clay. Most of our rulers, and you and I have feet of clay. There is no security in or under any system of debts and usury. Refuse to vote for more bonds; change our school system of interest and when you find an honest man he will have hair growing in his hand.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

DOUBLE PROFIT

In every transaction, there should be a double profit, both parties being benefited by the transaction. Those who believe that the employer should never make a profit on the buying of labor, fail to realize that the worker invariably makes a profit on selling his labor. He is benefited by it. He is buying money with his services and he can get more with the money he gets than he can get using his services himself, or selling them to any other individual. In other words, he is making a profit, he is being benefited, by the money he gets for his services. This is as it should be. He is entitled to it if he is selling his services on a free market.

And by the same reasoning, the employer must be benefited when he invests in labor. When there ceases to be a profit on both sides, there ceases to be employment.

That is largely what is the trouble at present. It is very difficult to make any profit at all in buying labor. And it is the exchange of services of labor and things that greatly adds to the wealth of the world. It is this exchange that benefits both buyer and seller that changes man from primitive tribesmen to civilization. When people realize that there must be a double in profit on any transaction and come to believe that any group that by custom or by law, insists on artificial profits on either side, we will again start on the road to progress.

OUR WORST ENEMIES

Without a doubt, the worst enemies of the people in the United States are those people with a paucity of ideas and services that other people desire. It is invariably these people who plan a scheme to get themselves in some sheltered position and then sell to the people the impractical Utopias that these vocal humanists advocate and thus force their schemes on the public. They have no ideas, no services, to which the people can voluntarily subscribe. They can render no service themselves. They become collectivists for the sole reason that they are lonesome in the world because of lack of recognition. They want to be important and have no other possible way of getting attention other than by destructive collectivism—by selling the crowd their theories and forcing their ideas on people with practical ideas by the voting majority.

In the last quarter of a century, these people have brought on the income tax law and the Clayton Amendment, both of which made classes in our country. They have brought on the National Labor Relations Board; they have brought on the Wagner Act; they have brought on the Farm Bill; all of which have curtailed the ability of people with practical ideas from functioning and serving humanity.

These are our worst enemies and they are now basking in the sunlight of seeing their influence in the world; whether it is for good or bad, is of little importance to them, if it gives them recognition.

Can you think of men of this type? Let them know how you regard them. They are moral cowards and cannot stand up against honest public condemnation.

TOWNSEND COST

The Department of Commerce just issued a carefully prepared statement showing that the workers receive 84 per cent, or possibly 85 per cent, of the total production.

If this be true, that the workers receive 84 per cent of the production, then they would be obliged to pay 84 per cent of the 2 per cent transaction tax, whatever that amounts to. Only about 16 per cent would come out of the merchants, gamblers and capitalists and 84 per cent would come out of the workers' share.

The steel price reductions just announced are a promising movement which, if carried out rather generally, might well be an important stimulus to construction and other uses of materials in the heavy goods industries. It has been a constant complaint of the last year that materials of this character were too high and that building and related activities were being retarded partly on that account.

Other part of the complaint has been that wages in these particular fields were an obstructive influence, too. So almost the moment the price cuts are announced in this one instance there arises a question about steel wages. Mr. Roosevelt stated at once he was gratified at the price reductions, especially because they involved no wage reductions. He then spoke of the desirability of the high wage-low price combination which could depend upon volume production and profits from that.

The combination is desirable, although it cannot always be made to work out. This is because wages often are the biggest single factor in production costs, and if they are materially advanced costs may mount to a degree that makes higher prices inevitable.

The steel industry made that explanation of its own price advances more than a year ago. It showed that wages recently had been stepped up twice, once in November of 1936, and again in March of 1937, and the total wage increase having been 31 per cent, and a consequent wage level 30 per cent above that of 1929.

It was further contended that steel prices then were increased no more than had been made necessary by the added wage and other costs of production. But the whole business seemed to be a tacit if not direct agreement which left the steel consumers holding the bag.

Here is the stake of the public in all such matters. It usually pays the costs. And if the costs or prices get too high then consumption or buying is slowed down, and both the producers and wage earners suffer along with the general consumer.

The condition suggests that it is directly to the interest of both employers and workers to hold production costs at a level that will bring about the highest possible consumption of goods. That may or may not necessitate a wage as well as price adjustment, in steel.

But the industry will have to do much better than to operate at 25 or 30 per cent of capacity if the majority of its workers are to have the chance to earn wages or there is to be the chance of profits through greater volume.—Kansas City Star.

Wilson, North Carolina, Times: "The industry of the country has been turned over to John Lewis and his camp followers to be tortured and harassed. The National Labor Relations Board is a branch of his outfit."
